BANKERS RESPOND TO COURT RULING

Attorneys Prepare Pa- pers for Quo Warranto Action Against Daniel Proposed by Hamilton.

The three Atlanta banks yesterday paid into the state treasury $2,477,717.65, plus one per cent interest from date the money was demanded of them, refusing to comply with the demand of Governor Talmadge that 7 per cent interest be paid. The interest amounted to approximately $7,000 which the Governor accepted "on account," saying he would "see about the balance later."

It was understood the banks would go into court before paying the balance of the interest, approximately $36,000.

In paying the money over to J. B. Daniel, pro tempore de jure treasurer, the banks were following a ruling of the supreme court handed down Saturday.

Each bank sent two checks to the capital, one for interest and one for principal. Ryburn G. Clay, president of the Fulton National, took his bank's checks to Daniel personally.

Quo Warranto Planned.
Meanwhile Attorney Marion Smith, chief of counsel for George B. Hamilton, the suspended state treasurer, drew up quo warranto proceedings against Daniel which are to be filed this week in Troup superior court. Hamilton claims the decision of the supreme court Saturday did not settle the controversy over who is the rightful holder of the treasury's post.

Georgia Shows Gain Of 436,494 Since '30

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A population gain of 436,494 for Georgia since 1930—one of the largest increases in the United States—was reported today by the Census Bureau. The Georgia population in 1936 was estimated at 3,345,000 compared to 2,908,506 in the 1930 census. The bureau explained the Georgia figure was an estimate and subject to a wide margin of error.

The population of the United States was estimated at 127,521,000 compared to 122,775,046.

The southeastern states of Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and Tennessee all showed wide gains in inhabitants.

On the basis of the Census Bureau's estimate, Georgia had risen from 14th to 13th most populous state, displacing Wisconsin.

MITCHELL PALMER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Former Attorney General, Red Foe, Dies Following an Appendectomy.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A former attorney general and onetime candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, A. Mitchell Palmer, died in Emergency hospital today of a heart attack following an operation for acute appendicitis. He was 64.

At his bedside when he died were his second wife and his only daughter, Mrs. David Lichtenberg, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

The former cabinet officer, who served as attorney general during the last two years of the Wilson administration, was operated upon April 29. He had been making satisfactory progress until early yesterday, when his physician said, cardiac complications developed.

Foe of Reds.
When he became attorney general, in 1919 he became very active in deporting communists and, one night in October, 1920, had 4,200 alleged "reds" arrested who were participating in meetings throughout the country.

Born of Quaker stock at Moorehead, Pa., on May 4, 1872, Palmer served as attorney general during the World War, a post that embroiled him in controversy over German dye and chemical patents. He was called to head the Justice Department in February, 1919, but his appointment was not confirmed until August of that year.

Before retiring as attorney general, Palmer announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for the presidency and received 267 votes at the San Francisco convention in 1920.

Huntsville Slayer Sentenced to Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 11.—(AP) Walter Miller, giant negro, was sentenced to death in the electric chair tonight by a jury which heard him accused of the brutal attack and slaying of a pretty 18-year-old Vivian Woodward.

The jury was out but seven minutes.

Judge Paul Speake fixed Friday, June 19, as the date of execution. Miller, watched closely by the 250 national guardsmen here to prevent mob action, was convicted on the murder count.

Both murder and assault are punishable by death in Alabama.

LEAGUE EXPECTED TO RESIST CLAIM OF DUCE'S VICTORY

Mussolini and Council
Deadlocked as Aloisi Refuses To Sit With Representative of Selassie.

By WADE WERNER.
GENEVA, May 11.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini and the League of Nations were deadlocked tonight on the conquest of Ethiopia.

British delegates said the League would resist Italy's claim of sovereignty. Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Il Duce's representative, finding the council opposed to him, simply walked out of an opening council session with his colleagues.

"Futile," exclaimed the Italian baron as he stalked out, refusing to sit at the table with Wolde Mariam, whose country—Ethiopia—he said, no longer exists.

Resistance by the League, said the British, means:

1. The League does not recognize Italy's claim to sovereignty over Ethiopia.

2. The League does recognize the continued existence of Emperor Haile Selassie's Ethiopian government.

Through Aloisi, Il Duce demanded the outright removal of the Italo-Ethiopia dispute from the council's agenda on the grounds "there is no Ethiopian state. The only sovereignty is Italian."

But with quiet stubbornness the council voted to keep the Ethiopian problem on the agenda.

Aloisi Returns.
After Aloisi stalked down the stairs out of the council's private meeting, he turned about and walked up again to a public session, where he read a report on the election of members to the Court of International Justice.

An Italian spokesman said the walkout of the Italian delegation did Continued in Page 9, Column 1.

HINDENBURG SAILS FOR HOME PORT

Germany's New Giant Dirigible Is Expected To Make Record on Flight.

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 11.—(AP) The record-making German dirigible Hindenburg, visitor of the United States for two and one-half days, headed toward its homeland tonight.

With starry skies and artificial lights supplying a colorful setting, the majestic sky cruiser weighed-off from the Lakehurst naval air station at 10:27 1/2 p. m. (Atlantic time).

A half minute after the command "up ship" rang out, the Zeppelin's four powerful motors sputtered and took hold. A moment later the ship headed eastward into the wind, circled eastward and then nosed toward the north.

Its route took it over New York city and thence out over the sea toward its home port at Frankfurt on the Main. Favorable winds and weather were forecast and its officers expected to reach the European coast in about 48 hours.

Leave-Taking Picturesque.
The leave-taking operations were as picturesque as its arrival at dawn Saturday.

Its bow fastened to the mobile mooring mast, it was towed from the hangar at 9 o'clock (Atlantic time) a few minutes later, its tail was turned to the north and the ship was moved slowly to the mooring circle a quarter-mile from the hangar.

A searchlight from atop the hangar played upon its silvery sides, illuminating the name Hindenburg, the Olympic symbol and the Nazi swastika on the tail fin.

At the mooring circle, the 48 passengers were helped up the gangplank. A cargo of 1,751 pounds of mail and 2,394 pounds of express was hoisted into its hold.

Water Ballast.
As weight was added, water ballast to keep the ship on an even keel was hoisted, putting out at intervals both fore and aft.

While the passengers were mounting the gang plank, Dr. Hugo Eckener, most famous of all dirigible skippers and now president of the Zeppelin company which constructed the Hindenburg, stood about chatting with friends.

He was among the last to go aboard, entering the passenger quarters instead of the control cabin.

Italy's Future Queen Back From Ethiopia

NAPLES, Italy, May 11.—(AP) Italy's No. 1 Red Cross nurse, Crown Princess Marie Jose, arrived from East Africa today aboard the hospital ship Cesare, which also bore wounded soldiers back from service in Ethiopia.

Women and girls, wearing the black skirts and white blouses of organized fascist womanhood, joined in a popular demonstration of welcome home for the blonde Belgian princess.

Crown Prince Humbert led a delegation of royal and fascist officials to the gangplank to greet his bride, Italy's future queen.

The crown princess sailed late in March on her mission as inspector of the extensive hospitalization system Italy set up in Eritrea and Somaliland.

ALDREDGE FIRM IN POLICE REFUSAL

Won't Reconsider His Resignation, He Avers; Bridges Hints Urged.

As Mayor Key yesterday urged Alderman J. C. (Mott) Aldredge, seventh ward, to reconsider his refusal to serve as a member of the newly created five-man safety commission, Councilman G. Dan Bridges, third ward, chairman of the deposed police committee of council, promised to "blow the lid off the political intrigue responsible for the ouster of the old committee" at a meeting tonight.

The mayor and Aldredge conferred during the day, and despite the fact that Aldredge wrote Key that he could not serve, Key appealed to his "loyalty to service and his desire to be of the greatest service to his constituents."

When the conference adjourned, Key told Aldredge that the letter "will remain unopened on my desk until I hear further from you."

He also said that he hoped that you will change your mind."

Citizens' Meeting Tonight.
Bridges asserted that his "expose of conditions surrounding the removal of the police committee" will be made at a meeting of third ward citizens at 8 o'clock tonight at 609 Grant street.

Aldredge said last night that he can not take the position as such "as I would like to because of the demands he has been making."

"I have informed Mayor Key that it will be impossible for me to serve, and I do not change my mind on it," he said.

He also said that he would not assume it along with my other manifold duties."

The mayor also was in somewhat of a quandary as to whom he would name in Aldredge's place. Councilman William T. Knight, fifth ward; John T. Marler, seventh; Raleigh Drennon, ninth, and several others have been mentioned. It is expected, however, that the new appointee will be announced in time to attend the first meeting of the safety committee at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the police station.

"If I have to select another member of council, you may be sure that he'll subscribe to firing drunken policemen making departmental members pay their honest debts for necessities and awarding promotions on a merit basis instead of the political activity of aspirants," Key said.

Bridges asserted that the dismissal of the police committee and creation of the new one is a "dark hidden mystery."

At the same time Bridges asserted that the dismissal of the police committee and creation of the new one is a "dark hidden mystery."

90-Degree Weather Holds Nation With No Immediate Relief Seen

A 90-degree heat wave, reaching from west Texas to the Georgia coast in the south and extending up through the central states to the Great Lakes region, continued to pour down its blistering rays yesterday with no hope of relief.

Thunderstorms this afternoon are likely to bring some intermittent relief tomorrow, the forecasters said.

Light rains fell yesterday afternoon in scattered sections of the city and suburban areas, but there was no general precipitation.

Thermometers at the Candler field branch of the Atlanta Weather Bureau registered 90 degrees during the afternoon yesterday, while from all sections of the state the mercury was reported above the 90-degree point, with farmers alone enjoying the blistering touch of summer. In the hot nights, they see pleasant prospects for their crops.

Up through the central states, the hot weather reached to Columbus, Ohio, where 92 was recorded; Cleveland, where 95 was recorded; and Detroit, where 80 was the top mark. Thunderstorms in some of the mid-west states had dropped the mercury Sunday, but the climb was resumed yesterday.

REBELLIOUS HOUSE VOTES TO TAKE UP FARM DEBT BILL

Leaders Still Confident of Defeating 'Inflation'
Measure Providing 3
Billion New Currency.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A tumultuous house vote today to take up the politically explosive Frazier-Lemke farm debt refinancing bill and the first real currency expansion issue of the session.

The democratic house leadership failed by a 7-vote margin to prevent consideration of the bill that would call for the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in new currency, and then offered no resistance to a rule under which it will be called up tomorrow for six hours of debate.

Members of the democratic high command contended, however, that today's balloting was no real test and that the bill would be defeated on the vote on passage next Wednesday or Thursday.

Author Sees Success.
On the other hand, Representative Lemke, republican, North Dakota, co-author, said he expected the measure to command even more votes on passage than it did today.

"There aren't 75 members who know what the bill is about," he said. "I'm satisfied that after we have explained it, the membership will realize it is not inflation and that it will mean the salvation of the farmers and of the nation."

(The bill would authorize issuance of new currency for refinancing existing farm indebtedness, with farmers paying the government 1 1/2 per cent interest and 1 1/2 per cent principal over 47 years.)

First, by a 145-to-134 standing vote, and then by a 220-to-153 roll call, the house agreed today to Lemke's motion to take the bill away from the rules committee, where it would be impossible to compile the information sought in so short a time, and that he would appear Wednesday.

At the same time, Morgenthau, obviously irked, declined a request by Senator Byrd, democrat, Virginia, for a list of corporations with million-dollar incomes which might pay less taxes under the proposed new tax bill.

Morgenthau declined to give Byrd the information on the ground that it could only be given properly in reply to a written request by the finance committee. Byrd said this formality would be complied with.

There were reports in authoritative Senate quarters that President Roosevelt would not stand in the way of some revision. This word was spread by senators who have talked with the chief executive recently.

Several members of the committee who heretofore have been noncommittal, including democrats as well as republicans, spoke up publicly for the first time for revision.

Among those forecasting revision were Senators Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts; George, democrat, Georgia; and Capper, republican, Kansas. Senators King, democrat, Utah; Connally, democrat, Texas; and Byrd already have publicly criticized the present form of the bill.

LETTERS LINK LEE WITH STOCK SALES

Bond and Share Methods Described and 'Guaranteed as Safe' by Accused

By LAMAR Q. BALL.
Sales letters to reluctant clients, interoffice letters of guidance and counsel to salesmen, sales receipts and memoranda of many varieties were dumped yesterday into the record of the United States district court trial of Robert E. Lee and William A. Smith in an attempt by United States Attorney Lawrence S. Camp to definitely connect both Lee and Smith with the operations that led to the collapse of the American Bond & Share Corporation.

The government's mass of documentary evidence was poured into the record during the closing hours of yesterday's session and provided the highlight of the day after Lee had spent several hours trying to shake the testimony of Mrs. Louise Dame Nourse, government witness.

Knowledge Revealed.
In one letter that the government introduced yesterday, Lee was not only linked with the actual selling activities of the company, but his complete knowledge of the company's financial condition was revealed.

The letter was addressed to John A. Thurston, county school superintendent.

SENATORS REBEL ON TAX MEASURE

Finance Body Recesses To Quell Uprising; Roosevelt Sevels Said Weakening.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A drastic revision of the house tax bill was forecast today from within the senate finance committee after administration leaders sent a hurry call for treasury experts in an effort to quell an uprising by committee members against the present measure.

The proposal for taxing undistributed corporate profits met such sharp criticism at the committee's first executive session that Chairman Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, sought to and finally succeeded in sidetracking the demands of opponents for an immediate test vote.

The meeting was abruptly recessed until tomorrow. Secretary Morgenthau and a group of treasury aids were asked to appear then, but the treasury chief promptly replied it would be impossible to compile the information sought in so short a time, and that he would appear Wednesday.

At the same time, Morgenthau, obviously irked, declined a request by Senator Byrd, democrat, Virginia, for a list of corporations with million-dollar incomes which might pay less taxes under the proposed new tax bill.

GIANT RELIEF BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Hayden To Renew Fight To Obtain $700,000,000 in Senate for PWA.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The $2,364,229,712 deficiency bill, carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief, rode through the house on a 340-to-38 vote today and went to the senate, where leaders forecast a quick trip to the White House.

A potential obstacle appeared, however, as friends of Senator Hayden, democrat, Arizona, said he would renew the fight started in the house to obtain $700,000,000 for the Public Works Administration.

Hayden's colleagues said he had formed no bloc to help him but had obtained some expressions of "friendly interest."

Administration leaders successfully defeated efforts of a house bloc headed by Representative Beiler, democrat, New York, to earmark part of the relief fund for the PWA. Hayden seeks to obtain $700,000,000 in addition to the money voted for relief.

Quick Passage Seen.
Chairman Glass, democrat, Virginia, of the senate appropriations committee, told reporters he believed the deficiency measure would be passed by the senate before the controversial tax bill received approval. Relief and revenue legislation are the only so-called "must" measures before adjournment, which leaders hope will come in the first week of June.

Harry J. Hopkins, WPA administrator, will be called by the appropriations committee within the next few days to testify on how the

CHEMURGIC COUNCIL TO HEAR HERTY WORK

Farm Chemists To Discuss
Paper, Fuel, Cotton, Roads, Beans.

DETROIT, May 11.—(AP)—Motor fuel from weeds, highways made partially of cotton, cosmetics from oats and dress goods from pine trees will be some of the research developments described tomorrow before the second annual conference of the farm chemurgic council.

The program of the conference, first inaugurated last year as a liaison of science, industry and agriculture, to advance the industrial use of farm products through applied science, has been expanded this year to include a wide variety of subjects.

Probably the most controversial will be that of industrial alcohol, manufacture of which the council has sponsored with a plant of 10,000 gallons daily capacity at Atchison, Kan., utilizing corn.

The work of Dr. Charles H. Herty, of Savannah, Ga., in developing a method of paper process from southern slash pine will occupy considerable attention at the conference. Development of craft and paper and newsprint manufacture in the south has been sponsored by the Chemical Foundation, cosponsor of the conference here. New paper mills now are under construction at Savannah and at Crossett, Ark., with a potential capacity of 335 tons daily.

Dr. Frank C. Cameron, of the University of North Carolina, will describe to the conference the use of cotton membrane mesh in highway construction, as a binder for surfaces on secondary roads.

Plastics now derived from soy beans and other agricultural crops and used successfully in automobile manufacture, will receive the attention of one session, with Dr. William J. Hale presiding.

HOUSE VOTES TO STUDY FARM DEBT MEASURE

had been pigeonholed since early last session.

Shout Down Opposition. Immediately the chamber shouted down the opposition to adoption of the rule allowing six hours of debate. To the expressed surprise of Speaker Byrns, there was no record vote on this.

Only three minutes of the 20 minutes permitted on the discharge were used, without a voice raised in opposition. Chairman O'Connor, democrat, New York, of the rules committee, was recognized to control the 10 minutes of opposition debate, but did not use the privilege, saying he wished to reserve the time until after advocates of the measure finished.

When Byrns agreed proponents were entitled by house rules to open and close the argument, and no opposition debate developed, he put the question.

Asserting that it had been argued a vote for the bill would put many members "on the spot," Representative Fulmer, democrat, South Carolina, told the house as far as he was concerned, he was on the spot when elected.

"The house should consider the bill on its merits," he said.

Blames Money Changers. Then, replying to statements the measure is inflationary he asked who made such assertions.

"The money changers," he roared in answer to his own question. After the vote to discharge the rules committee, Majority Leader Bankhead, of Alabama, told reporters it "has no significance, in my opinion, with reference to the vote on final passage." "I know," he said, "there are a great many members on both sides who favor the house a chance to consider the bill who will not vote for it on final passage. I believe it will be beaten."

"I'm just as much in favor of cheap interest to the nation as anybody, but this involved a great many other propositions."

He added that he regarded it as one test of whether the nation is going to have inflation or a sound dollar.

FRAZIER-LEMKE ACT IS RULED ILLEGAL.

ST. PAUL, May 11.—(AP)—The United States court of appeals for the eighth circuit today ruled unconstitutional relief measure sponsored by Senator L. J. Frazier and Representative William Lemke. It was the amended Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act.

In a three-judge opinion filed here, the appeals court held "the conclusion is inescapable the amended mortgage moratorium act, with its provision for a three-year stay, violates the fifth amendment because it takes from an appellant without compensation valuable rights in the mortgaged property and gives them to the appellee." Foreclosure of a mortgage on a 160-acre farm near Omaha, Neb., owned by William Pamp, resulted in the original lawsuit which resulted eventually in today's decision.

The action began three years ago and still was in litigation when the United States supreme court held the first Frazier-Lemke mortgage moratorium act unconstitutional last May 27. The federal district court at Omaha, under the act as amended by congress in 1935, allowed Pamp to retain his farm for three years by paying a "reasonable rental" semi-annually.

The Omaha court's order was reversed by today's ruling and the entire action was remanded for continuation of the foreclosure proceedings.

The court's order, quoting Justice Brandeis in the supreme court decision, stated further:

"If the public interest requires, and permits, the taking of property of individual mortgages in order to relieve the necessities of individual mortgagors, resort must be had to proceedings by eminent domain; so that through taxation, the burden of relief afforded in the public interest may be borne by the public."

The decision was given by Judges A. K. Gardner, of Huron, S. D.; A. B. Van Valkenburgh and Charles H. Farris, of St. Louis.

The Omaha court's finding was carried to the appeals court by the United States National Bank of Omaha, Neb.

OAT CROP HARVESTED.

MOULTREE, Ga., May 11.—Colquitt county's oat crop, which if threshed would yield a million bushels, it is estimated, is being harvested. The grain for the most part will be used for hay. The acreage was large and the season was exceptionally favorable. The present dry weather is fine for curing purposes, observers say.

DEAF MAN HEARS MINISTER.

"I heard the minister read Scripture the first time in years," writes Joseph Meredith, Ontario. "If you are deafened, bothered by ringing, buzzing, or other noises, try the treatment I have found. It has enabled me to hear again. It is called OURLINE, a Vienna specialist's prescription. Money refunded if not satisfied. Costs only a few cents daily. ## SIX MEN WILL DIE IN GOTHAM KILLING Convicted Slayers Sentenced to Chair in Death of Messenger.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Six men, the largest number ever sentenced to die for a single crime in New York state, were sentenced to the electric chair today by County Judge Peter J. Brancato and hurried to Sing Sing prison.

They were convicted of the murder of Edwin Esposito, 22-year-old subway company messenger, shortly before Esposito was to be married last September. He resisted when they attempted to rob him of $250.

Judge Brancato set the week of June 22 for execution but an appeal probably will delay it until autumn. It is the second time since the electric chair was first used in 1890 that six persons have been under sentence of death at one time for the same crime at Sing Sing. In 1911 six men were sentenced to die for the murder of Mrs. Henry Hall, of Croton Lake, N. Y. One got a stay of execution. The other five were executed in July, 1912.

Esposito's convicted slayers are Salvatore Scata, 18; Joseph Bologna, 23; Theodore Dionne, 30; Dominick Rizzo, 22; Eugene Bruno, 20, and Sam Kimmel, 19.

GIANT RELIEF MEASURE IS PASSED BY HOUSE

$4,800,000,000 fund voted last year was spent.

The house shouted its approval of the deficiency bill after a motion by Representative Taber, republican, New York, to recommit the measure with instructions to the appropriation committee to substitute a system of state grants for WPA handling of the relief fund had been defeated, 246 to 90.

Final Vote Delayed. The final vote was delayed an hour by a wrangle over a statement printed in the Congressional Record. Taber asserted that Representative Martin, democrat, Colorado, had extended his remarks in Saturday's Record in such a way as to infer that Taber had defamed the WPA. Martin claimed it was a printer's error. Taber introduced a resolution that the remarks be stricken out but the chamber voted, 240 to 114, against it.

Later Taber shouted: "It is apparent by the voting the majority want a dishonest record." Martin at first demanded Taber's words be "taken down" with a view to expunging them but subsequently withdrew the demand.

Other items included in the bill besides the relief fund are $458,621,860 for the social security program and $30,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

RECREATIONAL LEADER. AMERICUS, Ga., May 11.—Mrs. Mary Walker Billings has been named recreational leader among young people here. The appointment was made as part of the Works Progress Administration program here. Mrs. Walker will have a number of assistants and will first organize the work at the Americus municipal playground.

SOLO BURIED, 3 SEEK SUPPORT FOR OFFICE

Trammell Successor To Be Named by Scholtz Pending Fall Election.

TAMPA, Fla., May 11.—(AP)—Doyle E. Carlton, former governor, announced tonight as a candidate for the United States senate to fill the four-year unexpired term of Park Trammell.

In his statement, Carlton said: "I am a candidate before the people of Florida for the office of United States senator. Limited time compels me to ask friends to take such initiative in my behalf as they feel my candidacy deserves."

"Voluntary efforts, individually and in the formation of organizations to promote my candidacy will be deeply appreciated. If chosen for this office I will give to the people the strongest representative of which I am capable and pledge myself to a faithful and honorable service."

Mrs. Trammell was mentioned today as the possible choice of Governor Scholtz to succeed her late husband.

The governor's appointment will serve until January, when a senator named in the general election will assume the office for the remainder of the unexpired term, until January, 1941.

While the machinery for selecting a democratic candidate in the November election will be debated, a second aspirant to the nomination made a public announcement.

Claude Pepper, whom Trammell defeated for the nomination in 1934 by a narrow margin, issued a statement saying:

"I desire the opportunity of presenting myself to the people of Florida as a candidate for the United States senate to succeed the Honorable Park Trammell."

C. O. Andrews, of Orlando, former circuit judge, was the third to say he would seek the office.

Here for Trammell's funeral, Governor Scholtz declined to comment upon the reports Mrs. Trammell was in line for the appointment. He said there would be no announcement until a "decent interval" had elapsed after the funeral.

It was pointed out the appointment would be largely honorary in view of the fact congress is expected to adjourn within the next few weeks and the elected senator would take the office before the next regular term opens.

Capital lawyers continued study of laws relating to the method of nominating candidates to succeed Trammell. Some said nomination could be made by the democratic and republican executive committees, and that these two candidates would have their names on the general election ballot to serve out the remainder of Senator Trammell's term.

The supreme court held in 1934 that nominations could be made by the political party executive committees in the event of death between the nominating primary and the general election. The court said this method was permissible, but it did not say it was the only way to present a candidate's name. No other way was outlined in the decision, however.

police department "is no dark hidden mystery."

Political Manipulations. "It is obvious to those who understand political manipulations and the motives impelling certain individuals," Bridges said. "I propose to tell the people of my ward, the third ward, and then the people of Atlanta all about it. I think the time has come when the people of this city have a right to know what is going on, and I am determined they shall know."

"This fall, they will have an opportunity to pass on me along with the mayor and certain other members of council who are involved in this police department mess. The September 2 primary is coming."

The ex-police committee chairman declined to amplify his remarks other than to reiterate "I'm going to blow the lid off."

He refused to say whether he will become a candidate for mayor or for any other office, but his statement left no doubt but that he proposes to enter some bracket in the approaching primary in which a mayor, several important department heads and an entirely new council, composed of 18 members, will be nominated.

Meeting Is Planned. Frank H. Reynolds, chairman of the new safety group, yesterday said he planned to hold the first regular meeting of the committee Thursday night at the station, and expected the committee to be in complete accord on matters of policy.

Councilmen Howard Haire, Walter M. Sutton and Cecil W. Heister are the other members of the group.

When the old police committee was abolished at council's last session, third ward citizens held an indignation meeting and formed an organization "to back Bridges." The group will meet again tonight, and Bridges has promised to be there and to "expose the intrigue which resulted in the ouster of the old committee."

Text of Aldredge's letter to Key follows:

"Dear Mayor Key: "In reference to my appointment to the newly-created safety committee, I regret very much that it will be impossible for me to serve on this committee, as you know my position with the Southern Railway takes me out of the city a great deal of the time."

"I also hold assignments with the Order of Railway Conductors outside of my council appointments and I feel that under the circumstances I can not do the appointment on the safety committee justice. I, therefore, must decline the appointment."

"Yours very truly, "J. C. ALDREDGE, "Alderman, Seventh Ward."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass a pint a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

rites for J. O. GASTON ARE HELD AT JACKSON

Political Leader in Butts County Passes After Short Illness.

JACKSON, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Funeral services for J. O. Gaston, 60, former Butts county commissioner and state senator from the 26th district, who died at an Atlanta hospital Sunday, were held here this afternoon. Stricken a week ago, death followed complications resulting from an operation.

Mr. Gaston had a long and successful political career and was never defeated for office. Serving first as a member of a three-man board, he was later sole commissioner of Butts county from 1910 to 1925, and then served as state senator from the 26th district. He was campaign manager for Clifford Walker at the time Walker was elected governor. He was among the first good roads advocates in Georgia and did much to give Butts county a system of modern highways and bridges.

Born in Butts county May 5, 1876, Mr. Gaston was a son of Matthew Gaston, Confederate soldier, and Laura McMichael Gaston, among the early residents of Butts county. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Lilla Kimbell, two grandchildren, Martha Gaston and Bernard Gaston; a brother, J. M. Gaston, all of Butts county.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE DRAWS LARGE CROWD

NEW YORK, May 11.—The third day's session of the general conference of the A. M. E. church being held in Rockland palace drew a large crowd.

The main feature of the meeting was the episcopal address prepared by the bishops and delivered by Bishop W. A. R. Fountain, of the sixth episcopal district. The address dealt with the fundamental doctrines and tenets of the church as well as matters pertaining to state, national and international affairs. Among the things stressed were evangelism, divorce, home and foreign missions, religious education, lynch evils, race relations, world peace, prohibition and public morals, labor, Ethiopian situation.

The noonday quiet hour was led by the wife of Bishop W. D. Johnson and invoked a spiritual awakening through three prayers led by Bishop J. A. Gregg, Drs. R. R. Wright and J. C. Robinson, closing with a sermon by Rev. H. P. Jones, pastor of Mother Bethel church in Philadelphia.

A highlight of the conference was the quadrennial educational meeting, presided over by Bishop J. A. Gregg, secretary of education, R. R. Wright, president of Wilberforce; Abraham Simpson, president of Allen; W. T. Johnson, president of Flipper-Key-Davis, spoke.

MRS. WILLIAM MIZELL PASSES AT FOLKSTON

FOLKSTON, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Mrs. William Mizell, widow of a pioneer north Florida lumberman, died at her home here today. She was only a few hours.

Mrs. Mizell was the mother of William Mizell Jr., president of the Citizens banks of Folkston and Nahunta. She was native of St. Mary's.

Her late husband and his brother, Jackson Mizell, operated a lumber business at Perry, Fla.

Funeral services will be held here Wednesday.

Surviving are sons, William Jr. and O. C. Mizell, Folkston; Howard W. of St. Augustine; and daughters, M. Zell, of Nahunta; and daughters, Mrs. Ernest Davis, Fernandina, Fla.; Mrs. Chester King, Kingsland; and Mrs. Albert King, Kingsland, and Miss Helen Mizell, of Folkston.

MELTON SENTENCED TO DIE UPON MAY 29

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Bill Melton, convicted of attacking a young woman, was sentenced today to die in the electric chair May 29.

Judge C. F. McLaughlin pronounced sentence after a motion for a new trial was dismissed after Solicitor General A. Jones Perryman informed the judge that court-appointed defense attorneys did not desire to pursue matters further, due to lack of grounds for such a motion.

Standing before Judge McLaughlin, Melton said: "I am not guilty of the crime. I haven't done anything like that."

The young woman was attacked the night of February 13 by a man who held up the woman and her escort.

COMMUNISTS INVITED TO TAKE PARIS POSTS

PARIS, May 11.—(AP)—The General Confederation of Labor and the communist party were invited tonight to take posts in the New French cabinet.

The invitations came from the executive committee of the socialist party, acting under President Leon Blum, who has announced he will become premier in the new government June 1.

The labor confederation, receiving such a request for the first time called a meeting of its national committee. Jacques Duclos, communist leader, previously had announced his party would support the new leftist government but would not participate in the cabinet.

MRS. SAMUEL R. KELLY PASSES AT AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 11.—Mrs. Samuel R. Kelly, 75, a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and a former citizen of Atlanta, died here today. She suffered a fall about two weeks ago.

The late W. S. Richardson, tax collector of Fulton county, was her only brother.

She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Simpson, of Atlanta; three step-sons and several grandchildren.

She was prominent in club and civic activities here.

Funeral and interment services will be held here Wednesday.

Overall-Clad Girl Is Back in School

LAFAYETTE, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Betty Jo Wallace was back with her seventh grade classmates today and still clad in overalls.

Sent home last week when Professor H. Grady Young, of the Rock Springs Consolidated school, objected to her masculine attire, the 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. Nannie Wallace, has been the center of a controversy that has involved the school trustees and the county board of education.

Accompanied by her uncle, Robert Cramer, Betty Jo reported at the school this morning clad in the overalls which her mother had declared was proper garb for her daughter. Professor Young, who vigorously disagreed, relented today and permitted the child to return to her studies.

The mother had appealed to the trustees, who decided that it was a case for "Mrs. Wallace and the principal to settle."

ALBANY TO HOLD CENTENNIAL FETE

Officials Seek National Defense Day as Part of Fall Program.

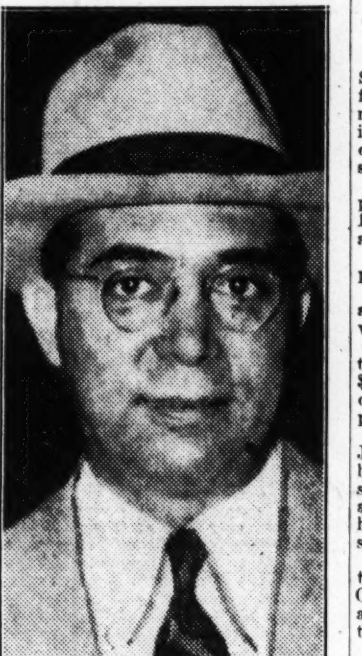

ALBANY, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Colonel L. A. Falligant, of the 325th infantry, United States army; C. Q. Wright, city manager of Albany, and J. A. Davis, business manager of the Albany Herald and chairman of the program committee of the Albany centennial celebration, which will be held next October and November, plan to go to Fort Benning tomorrow for a conference with general Estes and other officials about plans to have a "National Defense Day" as one of the big features of the celebration.

On this day it will be planned to have all the branches of the United States land and air defense demonstrated for the thousands of southwest Georgians who, it is believed, would be attracted by such a program, Mr. Davis said.

"It is believed that a national defense day demonstration would have a highly stimulating effect upon the patriotism of the people and build up interest in supporting adequate defense on land, air and sea," Mr. Davis said.

"The visit of the centennial celebration representatives to Columbus tomorrow will be in the nature of a conference, and it is hoped that plans can be worked out which will result in the presentation here of an elaborate national defense day program."

Puerto Rican Visitor

Antonio Lucchetti, director of the United States government's $3,000,000 rural electrification program in Puerto Rico, paused in Atlanta last night in an airplane flight from Knoxville to Miami, where he will make an overseas flight to his native island. Lucchetti has been in Knoxville studying the setup of the TVA. He is a graduate of Cornell University and forecasts a rapid development of the island with the development of its hydro-electric power. The druggists' convention is the largest of three here this week. Tomorrow and Wednesday, the Tourist Cottage Owners are holding their annual meeting in the city auditorium. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Georgia Association of Commercial Secretaries meets.

BUILDING IS GIVEN TO AUGUSTA ART CLUB

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 11.—The historic Nicholas Ware mansion has been purchased by Mrs. John W. Herbert, winter resident, and presented to the Augusta Art Club as a memorial to the benefactor's daughter, Gertrude Herbert Dunn. The house is on the block of Telfair street on which stand the old Richmond Academy, visited by George Washington, Lafayette, James Monroe and other notables; and the old Medical College building founded in 1839 and now the home of the Sand Hills Garden Club.

'SELF-DENIAL' CLUB TO AID CHURCH FUND

MONROE, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—To help restore the torn-down wrecked First Baptist church of Gainesville, members of the local Baptist church have organized a "self-denial club" to raise money.

C. P. Carmichael, local druggist, and chairman of the movement, said he hoped other churches in the state would join in the movement.

The local club has raised about $500 so far. Each member of the club pledges himself to dispense with some luxury, to raise money to meet his pledge.

Georgia Peaches Bring $6 a Crate in New York

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Georgia's first peaches were sold today on the wholesale market at the highest price in several years.

Crates of Mayflower peaches from Byron, Peach county, brought $6 a crate and another half bushel was sold for $3.50. Produce dealers said these prices were "excellent."

They praised the quality of the fruit, pointing to its fine texture.

The peaches were shipped from O. J. Ratemann's Byron orchards and reached New York three days earlier than the 1935 shipment.

Produce dealers forecast a brisk trade in Georgia peaches beginning next week.

QUITMAN PAYS HONOR TO S. JACK FAIRCLOTH

Business Halts During Funeral of South Georgia Business Leader.

QUITMAN, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Quitman today paid last tribute to S. Jack Faircloth, 50, widely known southeastern business executive, who suffered a fatal heart attack in Griffin Saturday while en route to Atlanta by motor car.

Faircloth headed one of southwest Georgia's largest business enterprises—Suwannee Stores, which operated a chain of more than 300 grocery stores in Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

Funeral services were held at the residence, Rev. M. M. Marshall, of First Methodist church, officiating. Business was called to a halt during the services, and the Suwannee Stores in the southeast were closed for the day.

Faircloth, "as taken ill, his chauffeur said, between Thomaston and Griffin, and died before medical aid could be summoned.

In Quitman, Faircloth was a leader in civic and business life. He made numerous gifts to charity, but few of them were ever made public. This was at his request. Only last week it became known he gave one-third of Brooks county's quota to the funds for tornado relief in Cordele and Gainesville.

Born in Mitchell county on a farm, his first business job was a clerk in a grocery store. He came to Quitman 25 years ago to become manager of the South Georgia Grocery Company. Under his leadership the corporation expanded greatly.

When the depression came, he established many chain grocery stores, supplying their merchandise from his company. The Suwannee Stores, owned by South Georgia Grocery Company, did more than $5,000,000 business last year, and gave employment to hundreds of idle men and women, the Quitman Free Press said.

Besides the widow, survivors include Mrs. N. D. Adcox, Mrs. William Childs and Miss Bertha Faircloth, Albany; Mrs. Fletcher Groom, Waycross; Mrs. Monteen Swann and Miss Marion Faircloth, of Savannah, all sisters.

GUILTY PLEA MADE IN BANK ROBBERY

Dodge County Man Admits Raid on Cochran Institution February 10.

MACON, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Hoke Smith Wynne, said to have been a former cafe proprietor and garage man of Dodge county, pleaded guilty in federal court here today to a charge of robbing the Bank of Cochran, a state institution, last February 10.

Charged with being Wynne's accomplice, a man indicted as Marsden S. Daniels, was placed on trial shortly afterwards.

Judge Bascom S. Deaver deferred passing sentence of Wynne.

Trial of Daniels is expected to last at least through tomorrow. Both are well-known residents of Eastman.

It was shown in federal court that the bank was robbed of approximately $20,000, most of which later was recovered following the arrests of the pair.

Charged with counterfeiting money, James Luther Dennis, of the Columbus division, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve six months in jail and to pay a fine of $1. He already had served nine months in jail. Assistant district attorneys reported.

Hubert Frank Morgan pleaded guilty to burglarizing the postoffice at Canaanville, R. R. Wright, president of Canaanville, was placed on trial to serve a year and a day in the federal penitentiary.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND IN THOMASVILLE

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified young white man was found here early today lying between the A. C. L. main line tracks in the eastern part of the city.

The man's skull and arm were crushed and his right leg missing. There were no papers of identification in his clothing. The nearest thing to identification was the name "Farris" which was shown on the waistband of his trousers when put under a microscope.

He was apparently in his early twenties and about five feet, eight inches tall, weighing approximately 175 pounds. He had thick black hair and was clean shaven, and wore a blue work shirt and reddish brown trousers. A light gray hat was found near the body.

A coroner's jury rendered a verdict that he came to his death from causes unknown.

SLOT MACHINES TESTED FOR PAY-OFF PER CENT

MIAMI, Fla., May 11.—(AP)—Policeman C. E. Kelley started out here today to drop 8,000 coins into each of 10 slot machines.

Equipped with heavy gloves, Kelley's marathon lever-pulling activities were to determine the pay-off percentage upon types now in use here.

Safety Director A. J. Kavanaugh, directing Kelley's test, reported 2,000 coins in one device revealed a pay-off of 81.2 per cent.

A thousand coins in another slot machine returned 55.10 per cent.

TWO INJURED IN CRASH

BLITHEVILLE, Ark., May 11.—(AP)—E. A. Forrest, 40, and Charles York, 23, Dyersburg, Tenn., were seriously injured today when their automobile overturned near Holland, Mo. Forrest said he was unable to explain the accident. The men were returning from a visit at Steele, Mo.

STATE DEATHS

MRS. E. C. HUTCHINSON. AUGUSTA, Ga., May 11.—Final rites for Mrs. Estelle Hutchinson, widow of Edward C. Hutchinson, who died at her home in Reidsville Friday, were conducted yesterday afternoon from Reidsville Baptist church. Mrs. Hutchinson, teacher of music in Reidsville High school, was a native and member of a prominent Richmond county family.

Georgia Tech will hold its annual honor day Friday, at which time it will pay tribute to those students whose scholastic achievements have won for them the highest campus honors. Ten per cent of the entire student body, or approximately 200 students, will receive recognition in the form of medals, prizes, or other awards.

Harry Stillwell Edwards, of Macon, Ga., author, will address the assemblage of students, parents, faculty, and visitors from all over the state who will gather in the morning at the naval armory-auditorium on the Tech campus. Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, will preside, and will introduce the representatives of the various honor-awarding societies and groups, who will in turn present their awards.

That night the combined military and naval units of the Tech R. O. T. C. will present a huge military review and drill exhibition under the lights at Grant field. Special awards for excellence in military science will be presented to the best-drilled student, squad and company. In addition, special exhibition military drills will be presented.

During the entire day, Omicron Delta Kappa, national honor society,

Largest group to be presented will be those who are listed on the honor roll, made up of the highest 10 per cent in the averages for this year. To the 20 juniors who have made the highest averages over the last three years, Dr. Brittain will present gold Ts. Other honors to be awarded include: Phi Kappa Phi senior scholarship cup, Tau Beta Pi senior engineering cup, Briaeren Society senior cooperative award, Phi Eta Sigma freshman scholarship cup, fraternity scholarship cup, medal of the American Institute of Architects, architectural award, National Association of Cot-

REAPPOINTMENT URGED FOR COL. SCHWARZKOPF

TRENTON, N. J., May 11.—(P)—Reappointment of Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police who headed the Lindbergh kidnap-murder investigation, was urged upon Governor Harold G. Hoffman in a petition bearing 4,350 names today.

The Governor has been critical of police investigation of the Hauptmann case, contending the apprehension and prosecution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann did not completely solve the crime. There were indications he might replace Colonel Schwarzkopf, a democrat, when his term expires June 7 and Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, state prison warden, was mentioned as a possible successor.

"PREVENTION" KEYNOTE AT DENTISTS' MEETING

Convention Hears President Morrison Urge Better Safeguards for Public Health.

Dr. Thad Morrison, president of the Georgia Dental Association, struck the keynote of the sixty-eighth annual convention of Georgia dentists in his opening address yesterday when he urged the dentists assembled to give more attention in the future to preventive dentistry in order to better safeguard the public.

Dr. Morrison also recommended better educational and training methods for coming members of the dental profession.

The largest crowd ever to attend an opening session of the Georgia Dental Association met at the Biltmore yesterday, with many well-known dentists from neighboring states in attendance.

The principal speakers at yesterday's session included Dr. E. L. Ball, Cincinnati, who discussed "Diagnosis and Treatment of Periodontal Lesions."

The discussions were illustrated with motion pictures. Dr. Victor H. Sears, New York city, past president of National Society of Dental Prosthetics, inventor and author, discussed "Important Steps in Denture Construction."

Mary Stuart MacDougall, Ph.D., head of the biology department of Agnes Scott, discussed "Physical Basis of Heredity."

Fraternity luncheons were held by Alpha Omega, Psi Omega, Xi Psi Phi and Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternities, at the Biltmore. The alumni were the honor guests at each.

During the afternoon session the following prominent out-of-state dentists presented scientific papers: J. A. Sinclair, Asheville, N. C., "Preliminary Report of an Investigation of Blood Changes in Dental Radiologists;" Dr. W. M. Morgan, Nashville, "Past Operative Procedures and Complications;" Dr. W. C. Geiger, Jacksonville, "Practical Periodontia;" Dr. R. J. McGarock, Birmingham, "Discussion of a Rational Approach in Treating Periodontitis;" Dr. N. W. Macaulay, Columbia, S. C., "The Duties of the Examining Board as a Protection to the Public and a Means of Elevating the Profession;" Dr. W. G. Hamm, M. D., Atlanta, "Cancer of the Buccal Cavity."

The progress of dental health education being made among school children of the state was discussed by Dr. J. D. Williams, chairman, in his report of the dental health education committee last night. This important committee works in conjunction with the Georgia State Board of Health to examine yearly all school children of Georgia in order that the children's health may be more closely guarded. This work was also discussed by Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, M. D., Georgia state director of Public Health, M. D. Collins, state school superintendent, and Dr. Sam Cole, Atlanta, vice chairman of the association's health education committee. Weston A. Price, D. D. S., M. D., P. A. C. D., Cleveland, head of the Dental Research Laboratories, lecturer and author, spoke on "The Role of Nutrition in Dental Caries and Dental Arch Deformities As Found in Primitive Races" (including personal studies in Central and Eastern Africa.)

KRACKE HONORED BY PATHOLOGISTS

Emory Professor, Noted for Research, Assumes Presidency of Society.

Dr. Roy R. Kracke, professor at Emory University and noted for his research in blood diseases, yesterday assumed the presidency of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists at a meeting held in Kansas City prior to the opening of the convention of the American Medical Association.

INSURANCE WEEK OBSERVANCE OPENS

New Orleans Executive Addresses Association at Breakfast Meeting.

More than 100 members of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association yesterday morning were told that the "life insurance business is just scratched" by Guy C. Lyman, prominent New Orleans insurance executive, in an address at a breakfast which launched Atlanta's observance of Life Insurance Week.

Atlanta is joining more than 1,000 other cities in the country in celebrating the week. At the breakfast yesterday morning, N. Baxter Maddox, president and Emory Jenks, chairman of the Atlanta committee, introduced the speaker.

"Though there are more than 83,000,000 policyholders and more than $100,000,000,000 of life insurance in force, the surface is just scratched and no representative will stop until he has fought through his own efforts, a pleased and protected clientele," Lyman declared.

Life insurance men will inform the public of the value of insurance through newspaper advertisements, radio and personal appeals. Members of the Atlanta committee, in addition to Jenks, are Walter Powell, Hurd Crane, H. M. Powell, Walter Rountree and Charles D. Harrell Jr.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(P)—The Aloula railroad today received Interstate Commerce Commission authority to abandon its entire 25-mile line between Aloula and Olanta, S. C.

Men Try in Vain To Save Dog Trapped on Ledge

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—(P)—Three firemen risked their lives today in a vain effort to save a mongrel from a ledge on a rocky bluff nearly 150 feet above a river-front street.

The firemen, with ropes tied around their waists, were lowered 50 feet to the ledge. A large crowd watched.

The dog growled and snapped at his rescuers. It leaped away from them and tumbled 130 feet to a railroad track.

A policeman shot the injured animal.

Motorists reported the dog had lain on the ledge since yesterday.

Retail Credit for Public Welfare To Aid Morale Is Urged by Doran

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 11.—(P)—Retail merchants were urged today to adopt a policy of credit for public welfare rather than leave the field to "raah and impulsive" actions of the federal government.

The advice came from J. J. Doran, Atlanta department store official, in an address before the convention of the third and fourth regional districts of the National Retail Credit Association, composed of nine southern states. Doran said leaving the extension of credit to the government will develop errors that may have a backfire of huge economic proportions and which "business must pay." He asked the 110 credit men and women attending the convention whether credit management "should not have anticipated these changing needs and attempted to meet the requirements with the constructive plans which would have left relatively less economic waste" than the federal government's "as an aftermath."

BOOKSELLERS GIVE ANNE'S BOOK PRIZE

"Time Out of Mind" Is Also Chosen; Lewis Says Selling Outmoded.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(P)—Anne Morrow Lindbergh's book, "North to the Orient," today was given the award of the American Booksellers' Association for the most distinguished general non-fiction work published in 1935, excluding biography and ephemeral subjects.

"Time Out of Mind," by Rachel Field, was chosen as the most distinguished novel of the year; "The Circus of Dr. Lao," by Charles G. Finney, as the most original novel; and "Personal History" by Vincent Sheean, as the most distinguished biography.

The booksellers' awards, made for the first time this year, were started, the association said, because "each year existing awards have been received by the booksellers, frequently with approbation, always with argument and discussion."

The winners received a bronze paper weight, made up in an original design in the shape of an open book. No monetary award was made.

At the annual banquet of the association tonight, Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, speaking of the competition of motion pictures and the radio, said "Bookselling is taking such a beating as it has not known for years."

"I do not believe that anything will altogether supplant the old-fashioned printed book, which has changed so very little since Gutenberg finished printing the first book, a Bible, back in 1455, almost 500 years ago," he said.

"I do not believe that any nimble television apparatus, any series of phonograph records, any ingenious microscopic gadget whereby you can carry the entire works of Balzac in your cigarette case will take the place of books, just as we know them."

Even after the majority of the American missionary population had failed to leave the country, Hull wrote, arrangements were made with the British minister in Addis Ababa to give what protection he could.

"In connection with the suggestion that American armed forces might have been sent for the protection of the American legation, it seems unnecessary to recall the state of public opinion in this country during the summer of 1935, which resulted in the passage in August of that year of the neutrality resolution, specifically designed to prevent this country's being dragged into any foreign conflict.

Like, he said, the dispatch of American armed forces to Ethiopia for the same purpose "would have subjected this government to a charge of flagrantly violating the spirit of the neutrality."

The secretary of state's revelation was made in a reply to a house resolution, asking information on steps taken to protect Americans and associate chairman of the United Jewish appeal, will address the victory meeting of the Atlanta Jewish welfare fund at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Jewish Progressive Club, Harold Hirsch, general chairman, announced yesterday.

U. S. OFFICIALS VETOED LEGATION PROTECTION

Sending of Troops to Ethiopia Was Considered, Hull Reveals.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(P)—Congress was told today that the use of a warship to help protect American lives in Ethiopia was considered by the United States—and vetoed—shortly before Italian troops began occupying Haile Selassie's African empire.

Secretary Hull indicated that consideration of neutrality, involving possible complications both at home and abroad, were the principal factors in the decision.

Likewise, he said, the dispatch of American armed forces to Ethiopia for the same purpose "would have subjected this government to a charge of flagrantly violating the spirit of the neutrality."

The secretary of state's revelation was made in a reply to a house resolution, asking information on steps taken to protect Americans and associate chairman of the United Jewish appeal, will address the victory meeting of the Atlanta Jewish welfare fund at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the Jewish Progressive Club, Harold Hirsch, general chairman, announced yesterday.

NEGRO CO-OPERATIVE TO MARKET PRODUCE

Colored Farmers To Ship Products to Distribution Centers in Atlanta.

Negro farmers in 22 rural communities throughout the state have been organized during the last few months into a co-operative association for the marketing of their products by J. B. Blayton, president of the Atlanta negro chamber of commerce and professor of economics at Atlanta University, assisted by county agents in the respective communities and 18 students of Morehouse College. Approximately $25,000 worth of produce will be shipped here in June, the first month of operations, it was announced.

The organization is believed to be the first of its type in the south. Farmers, both those who own farms and those who are share-croppers, were organized into clubs of about 25 members. Charts showing how much land each club has cultivated, the approximate amount to be produced and the time for shipment will be kept at the headquarters here.

Groups will pool their resources and ship their products by truck to Atlanta. Distribution centers, to be set up in many parts of the city, will be staffed by students. It is planned, it was said, to organize a consumers' co-operative association which will work conjointly with farmers' organization.

Students are selling advance orders for produce to obtain capital for preliminary expenses. Purchase cards stipulate that buyers may obtain an amount of produce equal to the price of the card. The Atlanta negro chamber of commerce will guarantee all promises to the co-operative society regarding sales and advance orders, it was said.

The association, because of the amount of produce handled and the methods used in distribution, expects to sell foodstuffs as cheaply as any merchandising organization in the city, it was said.

DR. S. R. BENEDICT DIES IN BALTIMORE

Noted Birmingham Physician, Brother of Atlanta, Passes After Operation.

Dr. S. R. Benedict, noted Alabama physician and surgeon and brother of Mrs. John Moore Walker, wife of the rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, died Sunday in a Baltimore hospital after an operation. He was 54.

A native of Athens, Ga., Dr. Benedict was a son of Dr. S. R. Benedict, for 45 years an Athens physician and for many years physician of the University of Georgia.

Dr. Benedict was a surgeon for the Alabama Power Company and attracted wide attention for his work in resuscitation of electric shock victims. He was awarded the Insull medal for saving life by artificial respiration through the use of an X-ray machine.

He was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1903 and later studied medicine at the Medical College of Virginia, from which he was graduated. He began his practice of medicine in 1911 and a few years later moved to Birmingham.

He was widely known in Atlanta and visited here on numerous occasions. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Martha Milner Benedict; three children, Samuel Benedict, Willis Milner and Helen Milner Benedict; two sisters, Mrs. John Moore Walker and Mrs. Nancy B. White, of Winter Park, Fla., and three cousins, Mrs. Howard McCall, Kenyon Zahner and Cleveland Zahner, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services and burial will be in Birmingham at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

MRS. ELIZABETH LEE WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Piercy Lee, wife of Ben Lee, West End banker, will be held at 9:30 o'clock this afternoon at the St. Anthony's church with the Rev. Fr. Nicholas Quinlan officiating.

Mrs. Lee died Sunday at a local hospital. She was a native of Utah, where her father, the late Major Charles P. George, was stationed with the United States infantry at Fort Douglas.

Burial will be in West View cemetery.

VOTERS MAY DECIDE

TAYLOR, Fla., May 11.—(AP)—The slot machine issue will be put before Lake county voters in the November general election, if pastors have their way. ## Wins Scholarship Honor

FRANK T. DAVIE.

DAVIE IS HONORED

University Law Student Ranks High Scholastically.

For the second consecutive year, Frank T. Davie, of Atlanta, senior in the law school at the University of Georgia, has been awarded scholastic honors for being in the upper 5 percent of his class, it was announced yesterday.

Davie, who will receive his law degree in June, last summer successfully passed examinations of the state bar and was admitted to the Georgia bar.

He is a graduate of Marist College and Emory University, and is a member of Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity, and Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. He is the son of Carl N. Davie, Atlanta attorney. He plans to practice law in Atlanta following his graduation in June.

DR. LAMBERT BREWER DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Dr. Lambert C. Brewer, for 17 years a practicing physician in Atlanta, died Sunday at a Los Angeles hospital after a short illness.

A graduate of Emory University School of Medicine, Dr. Brewer practiced here from 1901 until 1918 when he went to Los Angeles to live. There he became one of the city's most prominent physicians. He was a brother-in-law of J. M. Jackson, United States deputy marshal here.

Surviving are his wife; four sisters, Mrs. W. C. Jackson, Birmingham; Mrs. J. M. Jackson, Atlanta, and the Misses Ruby and Cleo Brewer, of San Francisco, and a nephew, Harold Jackson, of Atlanta.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR J. HARRY EVERETT

Funeral services for J. Harry Everett, who died Sunday at his residence, 607 Angier avenue, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Everett was a member of an old Atlanta family and was a son of the founder of the Everett Seed Company and a brother of F. C. Everett, the present operator of the firm. He had been in failing health for a number of years.

The Rev. A. T. Allen will officiate at the rites and burial will be in West View cemetery.

MRS. N. H. BALLARD PASSES AT RESIDENCE

P-T. A. Leader Was Wife of Late State School Superintendent.

Mrs. N. H. Ballard, P-T. A. leader, church and civic worker and wife of the late N. H. Ballard, former state superintendent of public schools, died yesterday at the family residence, 58 Fourteenth street, after a long illness. She was 59 years of age.

A resident of Atlanta for 14 years, Mrs. Ballard was a native of Greensboro, Ga. She had lived for many years in Brunswick. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Geissler, and received her education in an Athens seminary. She was married to Mr. Ballard in 1907.

They resided in Brunswick, where Mr. Ballard was superintendent of the Glynn county schools for about 18 years. For many years Mrs. Ballard had taken an active part in parent-teacher association affairs and in the St. Mark Episcopal church.

Mr. Ballard died in Jacksonville, Fla., three months ago.

She is survived by three sons, Dave Ballard, Lee and Herman Holcombe; two daughters, Mrs. J. L. Holcombe, Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. J. P. Everett, of Jacksonville; two sisters, Miss Amy Geissler, Charlottesville, Va., and Mrs. J. W. Ashurst, Aiken, S. C., and two brothers, Rudolph B. and Theodore W. Geissler, both of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, with the Rev. John Moore Walker officiating.

The body will be taken to Greensboro for services at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Church of the Redeemer, with the Rev. Frank Parker officiating. Burial will be in the Greensboro cemetery.

RICHARD W. HAY, 85, PASSES IN DECATUR

Former Southern Railway Mechanic Buried in College Park Cemetery.

Richard W. Hay, a resident of Atlanta for 62 years and a native of Gwinnett county, died Sunday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Fritz Rauschenberg, at 604 Second avenue, Decatur, after a long illness.

Mr. Hay, who was 85, was associated with the Southern railroad as a mechanic for many years and prior to that time had been a planter. He was a member of the East Atlanta Methodist church and Comanche Tribe No. 6, Junior Order of Red Men.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. D. Harris, of Miami; Mrs. A. L. Harris, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. Rauschenberg; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Toler and Miss Nancy Hay, of Newborn, Ga., and several nieces, nephews and grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence with the Rev. J. H. Barton, Claude H. Pritchard and H. B. Wade officiating.

Burial was in College Park cemetery.

AZANA IS INSTALLED PRESIDENT OF SPAIN

MADRID, May 11.—(AP)—Manuel Azana took the oath of office as President of Spain today in the parliament building where less than a year ago he defended himself against charges of helping foment the 1934 revolution.

Azana, premier following the leftist victory in February, was chosen president yesterday by a vote of the cortes (parliament) and a similar number of presidential electors. He succeeds Niceto Alcalá Zamora, ousted by the leftist majority of the cortes, which repeatedly accused him of being "reactionary."

Following the ceremonies Azana held a reception at the palace for members of the diplomatic corps. Among those attending the day's ceremonies was Claude G. Bowers, United States ambassador.

LINE OFFICIALS DENY SHIP UNDERMANNED

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—An announcement tonight by striking seamen that they would complain formally to the United States Department of Commerce that the United States liner President Roosevelt was undermanned on her arrival last Saturday from Europe met a complete denial by the line.

The strikers, conducting an insurgent protest against their wage contract in defiance of union executives, said affidavits would be submitted to show the ship had only six able-bodied seamen in her crew of about 200.

The line said 14 was the required number and that 15 able seamen and three cadets, also classed as able seamen, had been aboard.

BRAZIL FAMILIES FLEE DROUTH-HIT LANDS

FORTALEZA, Brazil, May 11.—(AP)—Families were migrating in great numbers from their homes today as one of northwestern Brazil's fatally recurrent droughts parched grazing and farming lands in Ceara and three neighboring states.

Urgent appeals have been dispatched by various civil bodies to Rio de Janeiro for federal relief.

Many of the short, wiry silent men of this area could be seen marching away with their wives and numerous children to other lands. For more than three months they have not seen a drop of rain.

SENATE PAYS TRIBUTE TO PARK TRAMMELL

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The senate adjourned immediately after meeting today as a mark of respect to the late Senator Park Trammell, of Florida, who died last Friday.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, called the attention of the senate to the death of his colleague and offered a resolution of "profound and sorrowful and deep regret."

Life Insurance Week
MAY 11th-16th

THIS is Life Insurance Week. Some day this week, a gentlemanly knock will come at your door. That knock will personify Opportunity. It will be made by "The Man Who Knows Life"—the Life Insurance Underwriter. If your door swings open—if you offer the hearty welcome, "Sure—come on in!"—you will be opening your door to peace-of mind and security.

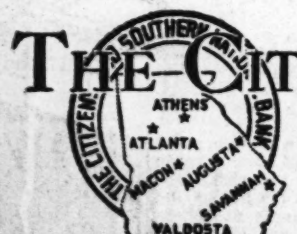

With this visitor will come "Seven Wise Men"—not in person, but in a booklet which is yours for the asking. Read it carefully. It tells how you—on your present income—can start a plan that means security for your family if you die, and security for your wife and yourself, if you live.

Our bank has no life insurance to sell. But any action or circumstance which affects the best interests of people in our community—and there is nothing more vital than Life Insurance—is of direct concern to us. Our interest is your interest. Our desire is only to help. For this reason only do we urge each man to consider his future and the future of those most dear to him. There is no substitute for Life Insurance Protection and there is a plan to fit your income—be it large or small.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Val Clarke, engaged to Robert Greeley, goes to New York from New Manchester to shop with Mrs. Warren, her Aunt Mabel's housekeeper. Val's cousin, Kate Hollister, fashion magazine editor, gives party where Val meets Hugh Malcolm, playwright. Bret Gallahave, New Manchester boy who while on a New York newspaper wrote a best seller, Leslie Crawford, Bret's halfbrother, and Winifred Sperry who are starting in Hugh's "Land of Tears," and Guy Williams, who inherits millions and has a small part in the play. Bret, engaged to Kate, married wealthy Bretta Garfield. He hates Les after losing "wild contest and Leslie resents Hugh's interest in Winifred. Guy takes Val to Pete Gaborian's luxurious place near Philadelphia. Leslie (Leslie) Cameron, who is with Grandall Scott, greets Guy with kisses and later strikes Val who defends herself so well Guy has to assist Les out. Pete's gambling rooms are raided and Craz drives Val back. During a stage storm scene Leslie drops dead, shot through the heart. Hurrying from the theater, Val sees Hugh who says he's just come from the corner cigar store. Les left earlier to catch a train. Les goes with Craz to see Val and Val's aunt orders her out for smoking. Val goes alone. Returning she finds a wire from Kate, goes to New York and clears Hugh by saying he was just visiting. Les' trunk is found when she saw him. Aunt Mabel sends her trunk to Kate's apartment. Winifred first saw Val she invited a play and he offered her a salary while he studied her personality. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XXI.

"I might like it, too, if I could make any sense out of it," she said gently. "It's a weird picture, as I said once before."

Hugh turned slowly, slowly reached out his hands to her. . . . She was in his arms then, laughing a little. She ran her fingers through his black hair, thinking ecstatically. "This is Hugh Malcolm, the playwright, and he's in love with me and I must be in love with him or I wouldn't feel like this." And then she pulled his head down and kissed him and when at last he lifted his face a little and smiled, she pulled his head down again and kissed him again and—

Kate said, "Merciful heavens—hasn't the New Woman any shame?" "Might know you'd come snooping around at the wrong moment," Hugh grinned, releasing Val, watching the color deepen in her cheeks. "I should say it was the right moment—the one right moment I've witnessed in many a long year, my children. . . . Is this just the preliminary to a courtship, or do you moderns dispense with the preliminaries and proceed with the nuptials?"

"We moderns," said Val, painfully conscious of her burning cheeks, "never take these things seriously. A kiss is just a polite gesture." She saw Hugh's eyes slanting toward her and she wrinkled up her nose at him. After a moment she told him, "Kate says she has a job for me as soon as you release me from my contract, Hugh."

"Oh, yash!" Hugh grinned. "Well, get this young woman; our agreement still has five months to run and by that time I hope to have your legal signature on a long-term contract."

Kate said with pleasant sarcasm. "How perfectly sweet. . . . And what about 'Tomorrow's Child'?"

"I'll have the first act ready by Christmas," Hugh replied, enjoying her surprise. "I've accomplished more in the last three days than in the whole four weeks preceding. Which means that from now on Val works for me on a salary, but I'll see her only one day a week—if I can stay away the other six."

Only Kate had heard the muffled bell, the sound of Val's shuffling feet as she went to the door. But the next moment the three of them were looking at one another confusedly as the voices of two men came to them from the foyer.

"I met you at the Tercentenary committee's smoker last night, Mr. Gallahave."

"Yes, of course. I remember you now. Rather odd our turning up at the same place at the same time here in New York. Drive down?"

"No, I came on the train. Just arrived."

"That's too bad. I could have brought you along. Well. . . . I shall go in to see you."

Hugh said, "Sounds like a delegation. Were you expecting some one?"

"Bret," Kate whispered, quickly. "Bret who she's talking to? But why didn't she tell you?"

Val's face told Kate the voice in the hall that was not Bret's was Robert Greeley's; but it was neither confusion nor dread of a difficult situation that told her. Val's dark eyes merely expressed a swift question as to how she might manage with least embarrassment for Robert and Hugh. When the two men came into the room Kate knew Val would manage very nicely. The introductions were over and they were all comfortably settled in chairs, chatting quite as if none of them sensed the tension introduced by Robert's unexpected arrival.

Hugh, who had been studying Robert out of the corner of his eye, now turned to Bret. "Didn't I see a notice of a new Gallahave novel, Bret?"

"Possibly," Bret nodded. "You will show good judgment if you refuse to read it, however. I wrote it as a purely personal accumulation of non-sense. My first liner in mystery and very badly done. By way of doing penance I am now writing a psychological novel in which all the characters are inmates of an institution for the insane."

"Tell us about this flyer in mystery," Kate said, grinning.

Bret shrugged. "There isn't anything to tell. If I'd waited a few months, I would have had a real mystery to write, as—sweeping their faces with his half-hidden eyes—"you all know by now. Think of the dramatic possibilities of this little performance the police are preparing to stage for example. Not as they will stage it, of course, but as it might be staged in fiction."

It was pure chance that Kate happened to look at Hugh at that moment and saw the little frown between his brows. Her eyes jumped back to Bret. "What little performance is this? Or aren't we mere women supposed to know anything about it?"

Bret said, "I don't know why not. I was taking it for granted you knew all about it. They're planning to run off the last part of Hugh's play—particularly the storm scene, as I understand it. That's why I'm in New York."

"But why?" This from Val, suddenly leaning forward.

"On the absurd theory," Bret replied.

Val, behind him, said, smiling, "I saw you in New Manchester not so long ago."

"Really?" His bushy brows lifted. "It was Armistice Day," Val explained pleasantly. "You were in your car watching the parade. There was a darling little boy with you. About two or three years old, I should say, with lovely golden hair. Just you two, and you seemed to be having a grand time."

The thick brows came down, the heavy-lidded eyes clouded. "I'm sorry to disappoint you," he said evenly, "but I haven't had a child in my car for years."

ANIMALS HAVE NO BETTER TEETH THAN HUMAN BEINGS

Recent studies at Johns Hopkins University have disproved the popular idea that animals have better teeth with fewer cavities than do human beings. The university survey of animal teeth revealed the fact that the teeth of animals in their natural environment are abscessed, decayed and missing in virtually the same ratio as among human beings.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE LONE STAR STATE.

Early American settlers on way to Texas.

Stephen Austin's father had obtained a permit from the Spanish governor at San Antonio to settle in Texas and to bring with him 300 American families. The father died before he could carry out the plan, but he turned over the permit to his son.

The permit carried with it a grant of thousands of acres of land. Stephen Austin went to Texas and chose land for his colony, between the Brazos and Colorado rivers. Then he advertised for American settlers, and obtained a great number of replies. Several hundred persons moved to Texas, buying land from Austin at the price of 12 1/2 cents an acre.

Meanwhile an important change had taken place—Mexico had revolted ed against Spain, and had set up a Mexican government. Hearing that he might lose his land grant, Austin went to Mexico City. Then men in charge of the government treated him well, and he returned to Texas with full rights for his colony.

In later years, Austin obtained new grants for colonies, and hundreds of other American families moved to Texas. By 1831, there were 6,985 persons in settlements which he started. The chief center was a town or village known as San Felipe de Austin. It had a newspaper called the "Texas Gazette."

Other Americans obtained rights to start colonies, and in a few years Texas was the home of close to 30,000 persons of American descent.

The fast settlement of Texas by Americans caused alarm to Mexico. Laws were passed to keep out new settlers. President Santa Anna decided to send 4,000 Mexican soldiers to Texas to "protect the people from Indians." The real reason the soldiers were sent was to make sure of Mexican power in Texas.

Texans of American descent did not like the laws to keep out new settlers, and they did not want more Mexican soldiers to come to Texas. There was much bitter feeling. Meetings were held, and men began to drill for war. In the autumn of 1835 there came bloodshed, the small beginning of a revolt.

LEAGUE MAY RESIST
DUCE'S VICTORY CLAIM

not mean Italy was leaving the League.

The immediate effect of Mussolini's peremptory demand that the League take its hand off the Ethiopian question, coming after the outright annexation of the country, appeared to be a stiffening of determination among those states advocating the maintenance of sanctions. Certainly, no definite move was made in the direction of lifting sanctions.

Several council members said the logical next move would be to condemn Italy's action and then adjourn until June, when a new leftist French government will have been formed.

It Duce Saves League.

One League official went so far as to say: "Mussolini today saved the League."

He meant that Duce's whip-cracking attitude practically forced statements to rally to the League's support.

When the crucial council session began Aloisi, in a prepared speech, declared:

"All discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian difference is futile."

Great Britain's foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, who was in the chair, then asked coolly whether "under the circumstances, the Italo-Ethiopian question should be kept on the agenda."

Without a dissenting vote a motion by Denmark and Spain for its retention was adopted.

Aloisi then prepared to leave but paused to tell the delegates:

"I have the honor to declare that the Italian delegation cannot admit of the presence at the council table of the so-called Ethiopian delegate."

Ethiopia Is Italian.

"There exists, indeed, no semblance of organization of the Ethiopian state. The only sovereignty existing in Ethiopia is that of Italy."

"All discussion on the subject of the Italo-Ethiopian difference would, consequently, have no object."

Therefore, I find myself obliged to refrain from participating in the discussion."

Earlier, the council had received a bitter protest from Emperor Haile Selassie against Italy's annexation of his empire. He implored the League not to recognize Italy's "outrageous aggression."

The Ethiopian delegate told the council that his country had been faithful to the covenant, had broken no laws and left her case in the hands of the council.

British circles said they saw three reasons for a new rallying around what heretofore has been described in many quarters as purely a British policy of insisting on sanctions. These reasons were listed as:

1. General anxiety for the future of the League, with the realization that the worst thing to do in the present crisis would be to recognize Duce's annexation decree and to abolish sanctions.

2. Certain countries, by no means only Great Britain, are worried about Italy's future policy in the eastern Mediterranean.

3. France is becoming worried about its position in Africa, particularly in view of Duce's creating a huge native army.

Says Country Unstated.

In an official communication to the League tonight the Ethiopian delegate, Wolde Mariam, said the Ethiopian people are "united."

This apparently was the speech he had intended to make at today's session. Acting on instructions from Emperor Haile Selassie in Jerusalem, Mariam said:

"The greater part of Ethiopia to the west of its capital remains free and independent. Ethiopia continues to defend itself. It refuses to recognize the Italian armies' illegal occupation of the other part by force."

That Mussolini took strong issue with Great Britain concerning responsibility for an Italian air bombardment of the British Red Cross ambulance at Addis Ababa, several months ago was disclosed.

Britain recently sent a stiff protest to Italy over the bombing. The Italian reply, made public by the League, declares that Rome refuses to accept the view that an ambulance unit is privileged to fire on airplanes.

The note insisted that the first shots came from the site of the ambulance unit.

SALES MEN LINK
LEE WITH BOND FUND

ent of Union county, a prominent resident of Thomaston, Ga.

Superintendent Thurston had questioned the profitable results that salesmen for the Bradley company had promised him if he invested the $9,000 City Service Power & Light 5-12 per cent bonds, and he is one of the many losers the government will offer as witnesses.

In a brisk, whirlwind finish to his questioning of Mrs. Nourse, Lee attempted to elicit from her an admission that federal politicians had found her a job in the TVA offices after she had agreed to appear as a witness for the government.

Lee also attempted to prove that she testified to avoid prosecution, as he asked her pointedly if government agents had threatened her or intimidated her when they sought the records of B. R. Bradley's American Bond & Trust Corporation offices in Wilmington, Del., where Mrs. Nourse was in charge of the company.

To all the pointed questioning of Lee about her friendship with United States senators from Georgia and members of the federal government's investigating staffs, Mrs. Nourse answered simply and directly. She denied that she had been threatened or intimidated in any way for her aid to the government in the trial.

Facing back and forth in front of Mrs. Nourse, Lee asked sharply:

"Do you know Senator Walter F. George?"

"I know of him."

"Do you know Senator Dick Russell?"

"I met him once at a formal party in Washington."

"You did not meet him informally?"

"Our meeting was very formal."

"Do you know any politicians?"

"Judge Interrupted."

Here, Judge William H. Barrett interrupted, with cautioning that the question was vague and irrelevant. Lee bowed.

"I withdraw the question, your honor."

Before that, Lee had been asking Mrs. Nourse if she had held any conversations with any federal prosecuting officers as to her employment and she had replied emphatically:

"No."

Lee ended his questioning after Judge Barrett's interruption and shortly after, United States Attorney General Cummings asked Mrs. Nourse:

"Mrs. Nourse, did Neil Andrews or I have anything to do, directly or indirectly, with your obtaining employment with the TVA?"

"No, sir."

Brief Answers.

Mrs. Nourse was brief in all her answers. Lee's cross-examination, which started at 9:30 and ended at noon was directed toward apparent efforts to impeach Mrs. Nourse. He tried to prove she had written letters for B. R. Bradley after she had testified she had never taken dictation from Bradley, but Mrs. Nourse stuck to her argument that all letters she had written, signed by B. R. Bradley, were merely form letters. She informed Lee she had written several of them at Lee's direction.

Lee sought by questioning to create the impression he knew nothing of the affairs of the organization and at one time asked the court if it would entertain a request for a verdict of acquittal as most of the testimony was against Bradley.

"The evidence against Bradley does not mean that you did not aid him," Judge Barrett replied.

During the morning, Judge Barrett time and again warned Lee that his questioning must be shortened and irrelevant questions not discussed.

Questions Shouted.

Lee was brisk and alive with action throughout the day. Several times he approached the witness stand directly over her as he shouted his questions. Each time, Judge Barrett waved him back. Lee told the court he had suffered from a cold on Friday and Saturday, but yesterday he seemed to be his old self. He had been in the hands of a doctor over the week-end, he said during the recess.

In addition to the letter to Superintendent Thurston, the government introduced an inter-office memorandum from Lee in Washington to William Leide, a salesman in the New Orleans Bradley office. Leide had asked how he should answer certain questions asked by the government of being about the financial responsibility of the American Bond & Share Corporation, and Leide had added in postscript, that the client was a lawyer.

"Little Bearing."

"Lee's financial responsibility of the American Bond & Share Corporation has very little, if any, bearing on its operations. In the first place, the company merely acts as trading manager of the client's funds. We have only our superior trading ability to sell. We do not in the very nature of things assume any guarantee of the market, but we do assure the client of the finest possible judgment in the execution of our commitment in his behalf. In effect, we act as agent of the client in placing his money with brokers who are members of the Stock Exchange, cotton market, etc. The responsibility of the client is, of course, limited to the amount of his deposit. Aside from this, however, the company has in the course of the past three years built up a very splendid reserve portfolio, no part of which is, however, subject to the interest of the individual clients in our trading department, any more than would be the capital account of a brokerage firm, being members of the exchanges, be subject to the interest of a customer. Without indulging in precise figures, the corporate capital account and surplus are slightly in excess of $110,000."

He also told Lee:

"Under the charter the funds of the individual client are trust funds and are not intermingled with the corporation's general fund, and at no time become liable or chargeable for any of the company's liabilities."

Letter to Superintendent Thurston.

The greater portion of Lee's letter "Dear Mr. Thurston: I wish to personally thank you for your candid letter of June 18. It is perfectly natural and inherent in human nature to be sceptical of that with which we are not fully familiar, or the action which we do not completely understand. I can well appreciate and understand your feeling of distrust, particularly when it is founded upon previous experiences which were unpleasant."

"Among types of investments which depreciated greatly by reason of the depression were those commonly known as fixed trusts. By this term we meant a trust fund which is not set up along fixed lines, requiring that certain portions of the fund be invested in a definite named stock or bond and that other portions be in-

Count Volpi Ordered To Organize Industry; Duce Mobilizes Classes of '11 and '13 as Colonizers, Sends 50 Radio Stations to African Territory.

ROME, May 11.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, may be crowned emperor of Ethiopia, in the Holy Ethiopian city of Aksum, an official source disclosed tonight.

Protocol officials of the government are now studying the proposal, this source asserted, to determine whether the coronation of Queen Victoria, of Great Britain, as empress of India furnished a precedent for the projected ceremony.

Defense of the holy Ethiopian city, reported high place of the sacred ark of the covenant, led Emperor Haile Selassie to declare the struggle against the Italian invaders a "holy war" last fall.

The city fell to the fascist warriors October 13 without a single gunshot.

Plans for industrial development of the newly-proclaimed Italian territory were placed in the hands of Count Giuseppe Volpi, president of the fascist confederation of industrialists.

Count Volpi was instructed to organize technical groups to develop such industries as cotton, silk and a special session Saturday, probably to ratify the grand council and cabinet's proclamation of a new Roman empire.

Fifty lightweight radio stations, each of 350 watts power, were sent to East Africa to establish a civilian system of communications.

Two military classes, those of 1911 and 1913, received orders to demobilize those in barracks in Italy for an "unlimited vacation in expectation of definite retirement." Members of the classes in Africa were not affected.

Military officials said the class of 1914 must wear orders soon.

vested in other definitely named stocks or bonds, and he held, the profits to be paid from dividend disbursements on such stocks and bonds usually these trusts were not in position to take advantage of the changing conditions in the market and they were obliged to go down with the depression.

"This company, however, operates upon an entirely different principle. Our type of operations are known as the trading management type of corporation. Those who enter into a contract with us really employ this corporation to manage whatever sum they desire, irrespective of whether the sum be one hundred or twenty-five dollars, or a larger figure. We, as the manager of such fund, use the funds in trading on the New York Stock Exchange. We operate upon a very conservative basis, and make a practice of taking a profit as soon as it appears. That is, we are content with a profit of one, two, or three points, depending, of course, upon the range of the stock during the period of our interest therein. It is apparent, therefore, that we are able to whittle off small profits of this kind several times during the month and, at the same time, watch our operations and record our gains and losses may be held under one point, a substantial profit results at the end of the period."

"Statistical Survey."

Our operations are not conducted upon blind instinct, hope, or the word-of-mouth information that is handed about by persons wholly unqualified to handle such matters. In our own office a complete statistical and market survey department, and we base our market activities upon the information which this department constantly prepared and, in addition, thereto, the 20 years' experience of Mr. Bradley as a successful trader on the New York Stock Exchange.

"We are not tied down to a set, fixed trust, but if a stock in which we hold a position gives warning of a decline, we are enabled to instantly take advantage of it; and without attempting to explain the intricacies of trading on the stock exchange, we can and do make profits on stocks and bonds that are declining, whereas the individual investor, operating upon his own judgment wholly lacks the necessary accurate information to make such a decision and frequently a decline in the value of stocks or bonds means his ruin."

"At the end of each calendar month, the profits of our operations, as set out as conditions in the market will permit, are liquidated, and the profits derived are distributed to the individual investors. Each month, the individual investor, operating upon his own judgment wholly lacks the necessary accurate information to make such a decision and frequently a decline in the value of stocks or bonds means his ruin."

"To illustrate, if you had $1,000 on deposit with us, and nine other persons had a similar amount, and we earned $1,000 per month, we would divide the first and 15th of each month. For this service we charge 8 per cent of the net profits for managing your fund."

"In the case outlined above, where your profit is assumed to have been $100, our charge would be 8 per cent, or $8. The sum of $92. It is, therefore, readily apparent that unless profits are made on your money, this company does not make anything. We consider the client's money as inviolable, and never have had any complaint made on the part of our investors."

"The element of chance or loss is minimized to such an extent that we view loss in our organization as extremely improbable. We have never lost a cent of our clients' money."

BANKS PAY BALANCES
INTO STATE TREASURY

Hamilton with the announcement that he would go on the radio from 9:30 until 10 o'clock Friday night to explain the situation.

"Of course that statement (announcing the quo warrantum action) was not made by Hamilton but it was made by the same crowd which has been trying to break down the state government for political purposes," the Governor said. "They know they cannot win a quo warrantum. They know the law is against them."

"State Not In Hurry."

The banks made their payments to the state just as the Governor commented that the state was not in a hurry to take the money. Talmadge said the cash was not needed and he was glad to draw 7 per cent on it.

As he finished talking, Mr. Clay called from the Fulton National and announced that he was bringing the money to the capitol. Talmadge told Clay to take the checks to the treasury and to stop by and see him.

The banker handed Daniel a check for $1,082,661.56 principal plus about $3,000 interest. Daniel told the banker to have 7 per cent interest from February 26, which Clay refused to pay. Daniel then said the state would accept the one per cent, leaving the other open for further discussion.

Suit Rumored.

When Clay appeared at the Governor's office Talmadge asked him about 7 per cent interest and the banker replied he had paid one per cent on account. Talmadge is understood to have insisted that the balance be paid and to have told Clay a suit to collect the balance will be filed.

While Clay was en route to the capitol a messenger from the First National brought checks totaling $807,254 to Daniel from that institution. This bank likewise paid one per cent interest.

Later in the day the Citizens & Southern National sent its state deposits, totaling $887,801.57 to Daniel. This bank also paid one per cent interest.

It is expected the First National of Marietta and a number of smaller banks which have been holding state funds will pay the money over to Daniel in a day or two.

Julius Hughes and Harold Sargent Qualify for U. S. Open

It was blistering hot out at East Lake yesterday. The winds blew dust swirls out of the grass fairways, baking hard in the sun.

And the field of golfers, seeking places in the National Open golf tournament to be played this summer, were struggling along with rather difficult shots to make on the baked fairways.

Dr. Julius Hughes blistered the course a bit more with his second 18 holes, firing a 69 at the boys to win one of the two places with a score of 142 for the 36 holes. It was four strokes better than Hal Sargent's 74-72-146.

Hughes' 69 was a brilliant bit of golf and yet I think Hal Sargent's 74 on the first 18, two-over par, probably the finest 74 ever made at East Lake.

He started well but at No. 4 took four putts and a seven on the hole. He was in trouble at the 13th and took another seven there.

Yet he finished with a 74, just two over par.

All of which marks the difference between a duffer and the fellow who can qualify for the National Open. The good golfer may have his six or seven here and there. But he scrambles around and gets his score. The patient, plodding duffer, never sure of what he is doing, be it right or wrong, takes his sevens as part of the game.

George Sargent's summer color is the color of walnut stain. He never wears a hat despite the fact he is not at all collegiate. Yet yesterday, when Hal Sargent's putt walked up to the cup and looked in, George Sargent's face was as white as a newly-laundered shirt.

And when the putt dropped to assure his son of a chance for the title George Sargent won in 1909, the East Lake professional's face grew red again, and it was with difficulty that he restrained a cheer. Later there came the news his son, Alfred, also had qualified at Cleveland. Probably last night when he reached the sanctuary of his home, he tossed back his head and yelled "whoopee!"

If he didn't, he should have. Two sons in the national open is something to cheer for. Few fathers have one.

Bobby Jones was a visitor at the course yesterday. He sat in the shade, puffing a new briar pipe. And as the perspiring players came in to the ninth green, he smiled contentedly and made sure he was in the thickest shade.

A NEWSPAPER STORY.

They put Willie Mahan away for 60 years last week. Willie Mahan is the gangster who led in the kidnaping of little George Weyerhaeuser in Washington state last year.

For a time Willie Mahan was public enemy No. 1. That is a title which isn't so popular in gangdom's ranks as once it was.

Willie Mahan is dragged in here to serve as a sort of introduction to a bit of newspaper history of which the profession is rather proud.

It was a sports reporter who recovered George Weyerhaeuser, beating the "G" men to him after the kidnapers had turned him loose.

You may recall, if kidnaping stories linger among your gray cells, that it was a sports reporter named John H. Dreher who beat rival papers to the story, despite the fact they had airplanes and groups of men working where he was working alone.

Practically every newspaperman felt a little prouder of his profession after reading about John Dreher. I recalled at the time wishing I might meet him some day.

A few weeks later I was sitting beneath the big press tent at Cleveland, Ohio, working on a golf story about the National amateur.

There was a small, gray-haired gentleman sitting next to me, also working. And finally some one came up and spoke to both of us and said:

"You know Johnny Dreher, don't you?"

And so I shook hands with Johnny Dreher.

THE STORY IS TOLD.

Very naturally, indeed, I asked him to tell me all about it. And he started in, very gently and very courteously, being that sort of a fellow. He must have told the story a thousand times. But he was very kind about it.

He did a very smart bit of thinking. The word was out that a farmer was on the way in with the boy. The roads became alive with agents. And with other newspapermen.

Johnny Dreher chartered himself a taxicab and started out the road he figured was the best bet. He passed cars of federal agents parked along and some running his way. So he crowded down into the seat. He isn't much bigger than a minute, is Johnny Dreher. He kept going. And finally he saw an old Model A boogie like a coffee pot and sounding like a coffee grinder.

And sure enough there was the boy in there with the farmer. Johnny Dreher got him out and started back. But not too fast. He didn't want to be stopped.

And he did a fast bit of thinking.

"I figured that the agents had seen the taxicab going out with one person in it," he said. "So I got down in the bottom of the cab and I left the kid sitting crowded down in the back of it. I figured no agent would expect to see the kidnaped boy riding alone in a taxi. So we rode right through the agents and I talked with him all the while and got the story."

"I took him home and beat it to a hotel and a room I had there. I called my paper and dictated the story. And then I sat down to write the whole thing. I knew the agents would learn pretty quick how the boy got home."

AND THEY DID CALL.

"And sure enough, it wasn't long before they called on the telephone. They sounded pretty gruff. I told them to come on up. And then I called my paper and told them to send for the story I'd written and to send to jail for it if necessary. I thought they might arrest me for obstructing justice or something. Although, at that, I couldn't figure why I shouldn't have brought the boy home as well as the farmer."

"In a minute there was a knock at the door and I told them to come in, and they did. I was sweating and nervous. And then one of them said:

"There were a couple of blankets with the boy."

"Have you got them?"

"Man, I was relieved."

In Seattle, Johnny Dreher is one of the most popular newspapermen in the game. He is one of the best golf writers out there and could have had bigger jobs. But he liked the one he had.

At any rate, I have wanted to write something about Johnny Dreher for some time, and when they put Willie Mahan away for 60 years it reminded me of being with him at the National amateur in Cleveland.

A real newspaperman—Johnny Dreher—the sort that makes the game worth while.

KID BROWN, COOK, AND DAN SAGE JR. ARE ALTERNATES

George Sargent Happy as Son Gets Chance 27 Years Later.

Two Sargent Boys In National Open

George Sargent, professional at East Lake was a happy man last night. And words could not express his emotions when he learned his son, Alfred, Toledo professional, had qualified at Cleveland for the national open, along with Harold, who won a place yesterday at East Lake.

And both qualified with identical scores for the 36 holes. Both carded 74's in the morning and came back with 72's in the afternoon, Harold being four strokes back of the leader and Alfred five strokes back.

George won the title in 1909 and 27 years later he will see his two sons shooting for the same national open crown. Billy Burke, 1931 winner, and Fred Haas, former southern amateur winner were two others to qualify at Cleveland.

By Roy White.

Dr. Julius Hughes, former Atlanta Open and amateur champion, and Harold Sargent, assistant professional at the East Lake Country Club, qualified Monday on the No. 2 East Lake course for two places in the 40th American Open championship, June 4-6, at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N. J.

Dr. Hughes carded a 78-69-147, with Sargent, 74-72-146, four strokes behind. Dan Sage Jr., an Atlanta boy playing from the Athens Country Club, won first alternate place with a 74-73-147, with James (Kid) Brown winning second and Jack Cook, young Ansley Park star, third alternate.

It marks the first open tournament entries for both Hughes and Sargent, and the climax of a great spring of play on the part of both.

Dr. Hughes first attempted to qualify last year and won third, or first alternate position and in his second attempt, he led a strong field of 15 competitors by four strokes. Harold Sargent has played in four open qualifying eliminations.

SARGENTS HAPPY.

And was George Sargent, veteran East Lake professional, happy as his son qualified. George was so nervous at the finish when Harold's ball was within 12 feet of the cup and two putts for a par four and a sure place, that he could not stand still.

George Sargent won the American Open in 1906, and 27 years later his son, Harold, has qualified for a place, with the veteran professional looking on and all smiles of happiness.

Alvin Everett, long-time Rome southpaw; Brown and Cook finished in a three-way tie for fourth position and had to play off for two alternate positions. Everett went out on the second hole, and Brown went on to win second alternate's place on the sixth green, with Cook given third alternate's place.

HUGHES UNDECIDED.

Dr. Hughes was very much undecided Monday as to his entering the open should he qualify, but now that he has won first place and being best at medal play, he is very likely to take his place in the lineup at the first tee June 4 at Springfield, N. J. Hughes has always been consistent at medal play.

George Sargent has devoted a major portion of his time to shop work and his winning a place is to be commended. He spends an hour or so each day practicing, but rarely ever gets into competition except on Sunday afternoon in the weekly dogfies. Winning a place in the American Open in the sectional qualifying under such conditions is a great accomplishment, and stamps Harold as the state's outstanding young professional.

Jack Cook, young Ansley Park star and winner of four medal honors in prep tournaments, took an early lead with a eagle three on the first hole, but lost ground on the sixth hole when he went two over par.

Hughes finished two strokes up on Cook at the end of the first nine, but the Ansley Park star rallied on the back nine with a 36 and Hughes went two over and they finished with 73's in first place at the end of the morning round.

Dan Sage Jr. and Harold Sargent were a stroke back with 74's with Everett, Brown and Frank Ridley Jr. still in the running with 75's as the afternoon round started.

Birmingham Boy Wins Ring Title

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31. (P)—Petey Sarron, flailing Syrian buzzsaw, swarmed all over Champion Freddie Miller here tonight to win the world's featherweight boxing crown by decision after 15 furious rounds. Miller weighed 126 and Sarron 125 1-2. Sarron, the Birmingham lad who has been fighting for a dozen years, piled up points during the early rounds and then tore into the tiring defending champion in the closing rounds with a drumfire offensive that had Miller on the verge of knockouts in the thirteenth and fifteenth rounds.

Harold Sargent, left, assistant professional at East Lake, and Dr. Julius Hughes, right, Monday won two places from this section for the American Open championship, June 4-6, at Springfield, N. J. Hughes set the pace with a 73-69-142, with Sargent four strokes back at 74-72-146. It was the first time that both had qualified, although both played last year. ## Cracker-Traveler Opener Is Postponed, 'Rain'---Teams Play Tonight

By Jack Troy.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11.—All this business of Little Rock waiting with jutting chins to mingle with those Atlanta Crackers was proved all a misunderstanding today when tonight's opener was called off at 10 o'clock in the morning because of scattered showers.

It has been some time since baseball officials have been known to string along with the weatherman in such a wholehearted fashion.

The weatherman said there would be showers all day, and the Little Rock officials gladly took him at his word, and so the Crackers spent a long afternoon shading their eyes from the sun and wondering what would happen tomorrow in event of a heavy down-pour.

The Travelers have hit a sort of snag at that. Alex Mustakis has tossed his arm away. He won't be allowed to pitch for a month, if then.

That leaves the burden on Kola Sharpe and Lefty Lee Rogers. And it is too much of a burden, especially with the runaway Crackers in town.

SMOKIES' OPINION.

Knoxville spent the day here and expressed the belief that Little Rock may win now and then from the Crackers but that Doc Prothro's club is not in our class.

Bob Porter, a right-hander from Lake City, Fla., was scheduled to pitch against Atlanta tonight, but now that a postponement has been in order, there's a chance that Kola Sharpe will face Bud Thomas in the opener tomorrow night, "weather" permitting.

The same weather conditions of today existing in Atlanta would not have prompted more than a half a dozen fans to call the ball park and question if the game would be played. Our nine doesn't have to invent excuses.

RECORD VOTE IS SEEN IN ELECTION IN OHIO

Calm Prevails on Eve of Most Important Primary There in 16 Years.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 11.—(P)—Political quiet prevailed tonight on the eve of Ohio's most important presidential primary in 16 years.

Two prime presidential issues and candidacies of complete tickets for state, district, judicial, legislative and county offices awaited the ballot verdict Tuesday of an anticipated record 1,360,000 primary voters.

Senator William E. Borah challenged the "regular" party organization for control of Ohio's delegation to the republican national convention. Opposing the Idaho liberal's partial slate was a full delegate-candidate ticket backing a "favorite son," Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, son of the late president.

Lined up against President Franklin D. Roosevelt in a democratic presidential preference contest, the results of which will not bind Ohio delegates to the national convention, was Colonel Henry Breckinridge, vigorous New Deal critic.

Rivals Leonard Wood Fight.

The Borah-Taft delegate fight rivaled the bitter 1920 primary when General Leonard Wood, backed by remnants of the Bull Moose party, entered the Ohio delegate contest against a "favorite son," the late President Warren G. Harding.

Republican organization leaders were assured of electing at least 17 of the state's 52 delegates as Borah forces entered only 35 candidates against the full slate under the "favorite son"—or unopposed delegation—banner.

Although delegate-candidates of both parties are nominally committed to support for the presidential nomination their declared first and second "choices," neither law nor custom requires elected delegates to follow their avowed course. They are free to vote as they wish—even on the first convention ballot.

Breckinridge entered only the preferential contest, not the delegate voting. The democratic organization slate for convention representatives was unopposed and pledged to support President Roosevelt for re-election.

Garner Unopposed.

Vice President John N. Garner, named as second choice of the Roosevelt delegates, also was unopposed for the vice-presidential preference endorsement, for which no republican filed.

On the Borah slate Frank E. Ganett, New York publisher, was the second choice. Charles R. Frederickson, Coshocton, Ohio, industrialist, held a similar position on the Taft ticket.

Senator Borah asserted during his campaign the "favorite son" plan was not representative of the preference of Ohio voters. Organization leaders contended it would permit a delegation to go to the convention free to support the best candidate available.

On a republican presidential preference ticket, Stephen A. Day, Evanston, Ill., attorney, was unopposed.

Under the complex Ohio election law, requiring written permission from presidential candidates to enter on the ballots either their names or delegate-candidates in their behalf, "write-in" voting is a virtual impossibility.

Polls open at 6:30 a. m. (Atlanta time) in the state's 8,579 precincts, and close 12 hours later.

VERMONT REPUBLICANS

TO NAME 9 DELEGATES

BURLINGTON, Vt., May 11.—(P)—Vermont republicans in state convention tomorrow will elect an unpledged slate of nine delegates to the republican national convention.

A total of 903 delegates from the state's 248 cities and towns will also select a national committeeman and committeewoman.

None of the republican presidential aspirants has sought the favor of the delegation and none of the delegate candidates has voiced a preference for president.

MRS. HENRY LEHR TO MARRY BARON

Widow of Gotham's Famous Beau Brummell To Marry Irish Peer.

PARIS, May 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Henry Symes Lehr, widow of New York's most famous Beau Brummell, social jester and playboy of the gay 80's, has secretly obtained a license to marry Baron John Decies, 71, representative peer for Ireland in Great Britain, on May 23.

Mrs. Lehr, 64, a native of Philadelphia, rode to social fame on the crest of her playboy husband's popularity in the era of the "real 400" at the turn of the century.

She married "King Harry" as Lehr was known in New York and Newport society, in 1901 and presented him with $25,000 a year and expenses as a "marriage settlement."

In turn, he made her the nation's social favorite.

Mrs. Lehr was the daughter of Lucy Wharton and Joseph William Drexel, prominent American financier.

Her first marriage was to John Vinton Dahlgren in 1889. They had one son, John Vinton Dahlgren Jr., who now resides in Paris. Dahlgren died in Colorado Springs in 1899.

Lehr died in 1919 and Mrs. Lehr came to France to make her home. She bought a palatial $1,000,000 mansion here and only recently abandoned mourning for her husband after writing a best-seller biography of Lehr, entitled "King Lehr and the Golden Age."

Baron Decies' first wife was Helen Vivien, daughter of the late George Jay Gould. She died in 1931. For many years she was prominently associated with British and American society.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts inflamed?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. J. S. Leonard known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in seen the most stubborn cases that doctors, drug stores and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.—(adv.)

OFFICERS SUSPENDED FOR OUT-OF-CITY CRASH

Other Policemen Warned; Two Face Committee Trial for Accident.

Radio Patrolmen J. D. Corley and L. F. Preston were suspended from the force yesterday by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer in connection with an automobile wreck at about 6:15 o'clock Saturday morning in which the officers were involved.

The chief at the same time issued a warning to all captains in which he pointed out that no member of the department has a right to shoot at an occupant of another car unless the car is known to contain a felon or stolen goods.

"No member of the department," he continued, "is allowed to drive a city car outside the city limits in pursuit of another machine unless the car is known without a doubt to contain a felon."

"No member of the department will endanger his life or the life of another officer accompanying him or jeopardize a city police car in pursuit of a speeder."

The chief declared that violations of the order would result in the suspension of offending officers and their trial before the safety committee.

Patrolmen Corley and Preston overturned in a city car on McDonough road, outside the city, while chasing a speeder. The city car was badly damaged.

PILSUDSKI'S HEART AT MOTHER'S GRAVE

Burial of Organ There Was Marshal of Poland's Last Wish.

WILNO, Poland, May 11.—(P)—In reverent response to the last wish of Poland's beloved dictator, a crystal urn containing the heart of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski is to be buried tomorrow at the foot of his mother's coffin.

Thousands of Poles, who knew the dictator as "grandfather," will gather for the ceremonies in his favorite city, scene of his childhood and early youth, on the first anniversary of his death.

The urn will be transported in state to the military cemetery together with the coffin containing his mother's body, which has been temporarily interred at the Sainte Therese church here.

In the presence of President Ignace Moscicki, the entire cabinet, General Rydz Smigly, chief inspector of the Polish army, and other officials and residents, the final burial service is to be read.

CONGRESS TO GET FREIGHT RATE BILL

Hearings on Alleged Discrimination Against South Set for Next Session. By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The first session of the 75th congress will go extensively into the question of alleged discrimination against Georgia and other states of the southeast in the matter of differential freight rates, Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta, said here today. Upon the opening of the session, Ramspeck will reintroduce a bill which he believes will remedy the discrimination.

crimination rates charged Georgian shippers and Chairman Rayburn, of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, has promised him full and complete hearings on it.

E. K. Hart, secretary of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, conferred with Ramspeck in Washington a few days ago and he agreed that in view of Rayburn's promise to go into the matter thoroughly next year it might be more advantageous to Georgia shippers if Ramspeck waited until the next session to press for favorable action on his measure, designed to correct the situation.

"I plan to communicate with all shippers, businessmen and other interested parties in the southeast, inviting them to come to Washington for the hearings early next year," he said. "I have been promised a complete airing of the southern freight rate situation at the next session of the congress and I believe legislation satisfactory to all parties concerned can be worked out."

syth Street building in Atlanta, Ga., to house 13 federal agencies.

The department said the eight-story building was leased for five years at an annual rental of $58,782. With the 13 departments located in several Atlanta buildings, it was said, the total rent now is $45,000 a year greater than the amount to be paid under the new lease.

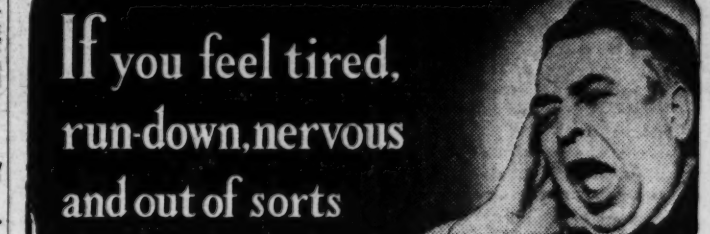

The Works Progress Administration, three divisions of the Treasury Department and the Federal Emergency Relief Administration already occupy the building.

Others which will move in when the lease becomes effective July 1 are the Federal Housing Administration, the War Department quarter-

Little Newell Bryan's Portrait Is Included in Mrs. Lee's Exhibit

By Sally Forth.

ATLANTA friends of Mrs. Walter Lee, the former Eleanor Gay, are elated over her collection of oil paintings exhibited here this week at the Atlanta Woman's Club. Since her marriage several years ago the artist has lived in New York, where she continued her art studies begun here when she was a young girl. Mrs. Lee's work has been shown in several New York museums and her pictures received unstinted praise from critics in the metropolis.

Of particular interest to Atlantans is the portrait of little Newell Bryan, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Bryan. Mrs. Lee did the portrait last summer when she was in Atlanta visiting her mother, Mrs. Pearl Moseley Gay. There is also much sentiment attached to little Newell's painting, as her mother, the former Ellen Newell, and the artist are lifelong friends. The baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Newell, and Mrs. Gay are also close friends, and during their young ladyhood were considered among Atlanta's most popular belles.

Mrs. Lee used a rich blue background for the portrait, which emphasizes little Newell's deep blue eyes and forms an appealing contrast for her delicate pink dress. The portrait is a splendid likeness of the little girl and reveals those characteristics of baby innocence.

Portraits of other children sent by Mrs. Lee for her Atlanta exhibit include one of Jane Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brown, the latter being the former Annette Gay, sister of the artist, and one of Stuart Eanes Jr., whose mother is the former Frances Locke, of this city. A portrait of Walter Lee Jr. is also included in the group. Young Walter's mother selected to paint him posed with his two dogs, who are his constant companions when the youngster is playing in Central Park, near by the abode of his parents in New York.

Older Atlantans will be interested in the portrait of the late Dr. Hiram Moseley, who was one of Atlanta's most beloved and distinguished citizens. Dr. Moseley was Mrs. Lee's maternal grandfather and she did his portrait from a very small old daguerreotype which his granddaughter has treasured since her childhood days.

The city's younger generation will view the portrait of Claudia Smaw with much interest, as the subject is a popular member of this set and was numbered among last winter's debutantes. Hanging at the far end of the Woman's Club gallery is a beautiful portrait of Mrs. Alfred Morgan Boone, of Birmingham, and her young son, Danny, the little boy's mother being the former Louise Gay, another sister of the artist.

A number of still life paintings is included in Mrs. Lee's Atlanta exhibit, including the one named "Southern Hospitality," which attracted wide attention in New York and won several first prizes in exhibits there. The paintings will be on exhibit through this week and friends of the artist, as well as others interested in art, are invited to view the display.

LITTLE JANE'S mother was downtown on business. During office hours, Jane, who is four years of age, was cared for by a competent servant who had been instructed, among other things, not to let Jane play with some "bad" little boys in the neighborhood.

The mere fact that playing with these little boys was taboo made it irresistible for Jane. But the minute she ran across the street to play with them, it was duly reported by phone to the careful mother.

She called Jane to the telephone and told her that she would be punished for the offense when night came. Jane quickly replied: "Oh, no, you won't punish me, mother; I'll talk you out of it!"

T. H. Jack Club To Meet May 16.

Of interest is the meeting of the Theodore H. Jack History Club to be held at Werner's lodge, near Roswell, Ga., on May 16. This organization is a study group and its membership is composed of former students of Dr. Jack's Saturday morning history classes and their friends.

Through the efforts of Miss Mary Gray, research chairman, a book containing historical sketches of famous Georgians is nearing completion. Fred B. Wenn, president of the club; Miss Ruth Cockrell, program chairman, and the social committee, headed by Mrs. F. B. Wenn and Miss Frances Hudson, have arranged a program. The report of the nominating committee will be read, and points of historical interest will be visited.

Dr. Karl Hartzell, Ph.D., of Harvard University, professor of modern European history at Georgia Tech and a research student at the London museum, is speaker. Members of the club will meet on Saturday at the Biltmore hotel, from where the cars will leave for Werner's lodge at 2:30 o'clock. Members are requested to phone Miss Mary Taylor, secretary, so that transportation arrangements may be made.

Miss Brock Weds John James Pace.

John James Pace and Miss Marjorie Grace Brock were married Saturday evening at the home of Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, in Fairburn.

Mr. Pace is one of Atlanta's popular young business men and is connected with the Georgia Power Company. Mrs. Pace is a graduate of Girls' High school, and has been connected with the Southern Railway, as secretary, for a number of years.

The couple left for a trip through the Carolinas and the mountains of Virginia and Maryland, and will be at home after May 20 at 1117 Church street, East Point.

Zeta Tau Alpha.

Mrs. J. C. Wright will entertain the Alumnae Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority at her home, 12 Arc way, N. E., on Saturday at 3 o'clock. Officers for the coming year will be installed as follows: Mrs. Frank C. Tindall, president; Mrs. J. E. Kerr, vice president; Miss Mildred McFall, secretary; Mrs. Karl Icenogle, treasurer. Chairmen and committees will be appointed and plans outlined for the coming year. After the meeting bridge will be played.

All Zetas are invited to attend. Those who recently moved to the city or who are not already affiliated with the Alumnae Chapter are asked to phone Mrs. Frank C. Tindall, Cherokee 2319.

East Lake Club Dinner-Dance.

The Saturday dinner-dance at East Lake Country Club was attended by a large group of out-of-town visitors and members. Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Buntin, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Burdett, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. McAllister, Miss Helen Murchison, Dick Wonehell, Roy Flournoy, of Memphis, Tenn., formed a party.

Dining together were Miss Frances Brown, Dr. Mordecai Nachman, Miss Christine Simmons, Dr. Martino, Miss Gladys Richardson and Ralph C. Maulsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMahon were the guests of A. G. Maxwell. Another group included Mrs. L. B. Baker, of Evanston, Ill.; W. W. McManus, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Adamson.

Miss Nell Burns and Miss McKee were with J. H. Kallself and Charlie Brawner.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright, Mrs. Ray Willis, of Jacksonville, Fla.; L. M. McQuinn dined together.

Parties Compliment Miss Laura Hoke

Miss Virginia Campbell entertained at dinner last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club in honor of Miss Laura Hoke and Burnam McGehee, whose marriage takes place Saturday at the Little White House at Warm Springs. Dinner was served on the terrace and the guests included members of the Hoke-McGehee bridal party.

Mrs. Colquitt Carter Jr. was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon yesterday at her home on West Wesley avenue in honor of Miss Hoke. The bridal motif was artistically carried out and covers were placed for Miss Hoke and the bridal party.

Mrs. Stanton Watts Pickens was hostess yesterday afternoon at an informal tea at the home of her mother, Mrs. John N. Goddard, complimenting the bride-elect. Guests included Miss Hoke, her bridal attendants and a few friends.

Colquitt Chapter, U. D. C. Meets.

Alfred H. Colquitt Chapter, U. D. C., met on Thursday with Mrs. Fred Hanson, the president, presiding, and Mrs. R. F. Stanfield, had charge of the program. Mrs. W. M. Rapp, first vice president, reported the unrolling of the marker to General Alfred Colquitt at Olustee, Fla. Miss Sara Henderson, Soldiers' Home chairman, reported visiting the home recently. Mrs. John T. Moon, secretary, read a letter from Mrs. Frank Dennis, state president, complimenting the chapter on its splendid work. A map of Jefferson Davis highway was presented to Miss Maud Colquitt, member of the chapter and a teacher at Harris Street school.

Plans were made for a silver garden-tea at the home of Mrs. Paul Stegall on May 22, 4 to 6 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. Stegall will be Mesdames W. E. Mitchell, S. C. Pitts, Jay G. Wood, J. A. Carr and S. H. Wilson. The chapter is sponsoring this tea for the Rabun-Nacoochee school, of which the Emily Hendree Park Memorial library is a part.

Mrs. Toler Entertains For Miss Stair

Mrs. John T. Toler entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Capital City Club, as a complimentary gesture to Miss Marjorie Stair, whose marriage to James Lancaster, of Memphis, Tenn., will be an important event of May 18. Blue and silver were the predominating notes in the color scheme of the artistic table.

An oblong, frosted-blue reflector in the center of the table was adorned with a silver gazing globe holding lavender, pink and yellow tulips and snapdragons. Garlands of smilax encircled the exquisitely appointed table, and clusters of blue, lavender and pink sweet peas were arranged at certain points in the smilax.

Invited to meet the bride-elect were Mesdames Charles Stair, John K. Ottley Sr., Macon Martin, J. B. Malby, Stanton Pickens, George W. Adair Jr., Ivan Allen Jr., Joseph Read and Miss Nancy Stair, sister of the bride-elect.

Miss Huston and Mr. Harling Name Saturday As Their Wedding Date

Wide social interest centers in the announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Mary Elizabeth Huston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Calvin Huston, and Edwin L. Harling Jr. The wedding will be a quiet event of Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Dargan place. Her father will perform the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

Miss Huston is the only southern-born member of her family, of which fact she is very proud. She is a charming young woman, possessing a lovely voice and being a leader in several departments of her father's church. Dr. Huston is pastor of Central Baptist church, now occupying the old Second Baptist church building.

Mr. Harling attended Sunday school and church at Second Baptist from childhood to young manhood, and was baptized during the pastorate of Dr. Henry Alford Porter. He has served as organist at Central church during the past two years. He is also organist for two Masonic lodges and holds a responsible position with Rich's, Inc. Among those entertaining during the past week for Miss Huston and Mr. Harling were Mrs. Mary Goude-lock, who gave a dinner at her home in Ormewood Park. A few close friends were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Rhodes, cousins of Mr. Harling, were hosts Saturday evening at a dinner at their home on Piedmont road. Miss Huston will be honor guest at a red and white kitchen shower to be given by Miss Olive Mae Rivers at her home in Ormewood Park this evening. Forty guests are invited. Miss Donna Smith will entertain Miss Huston and 30 of her friends at a shower at her home in West End, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Anne M. Lynn Gives Informal Tea.

An affair of Saturday was the informal tea at which Mrs. Anne M. Lynn entertained members of her French club, "Le Dejeuner Francais," at her home on Fifteenth street. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. James L. Mayson. Vases filled with garden flowers were used in attractive arrangement.

Mademoiselle Marcelle Cappatti, of Nice, France, an exchange student at Agnes Scott College, was guest speaker and rendered poems by Paul Verlaine and Charles Baudelaire. Original content folders were prepared by the hostess and Miss Mildred Stipe, who conducted the French conversation. A token of appreciation was presented to Mademoiselle Cappatti.

Invited were Madames M. A. Cockrell, James L. Mayson, Dowsa B. Donaldson, Robert E. Latta, Misses Sarah Hewlett, Ethel Cockrell, Mildred Stipe, Bell Cockrell, Marcelle Cappatti, Ethel, Warren, Rebecca Christian, Janie Belle McClure, Lucy Christian, Ruth Cockrell and the hostess.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR COOPER TODAY

Alleged Killer of Chappell To Hear 4th Date of Doom Pronounced.

For the fourth time in two years Charles Cooper, young white man, will hear the sentence of death passed upon him today in Fulton superior court.

Judge G. H. Howard will pronounce the words which will mean Cooper will die in the electric chair, unless he is granted executive clemency. It will be the third time Judge Howard will have passed the death sentence upon Cooper, Judge E. E. Pomeroy having sentenced him to the chair when he was originally convicted in April, 1924, of the hold-up slaying of James T. Chappell, on West Peachtree street.

An appeal for a pardon or parole for Cooper was recently argued before the state prison commission by his attorney, Len Guilbeau, and yet no decision has been rendered. Guilbeau said he will ask the Governor directly for commutation of sentence if the prison board does not act before the date of death to be set today by Judge Howard.

WOMAN SENTENCED IN HUSBAND'S DEATH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 11.—(P)—A 41-year-old woman, who hitch-hiked from Tutwiler, Miss., to Memphis to kill her 28-year-old husband because she "couldn't bear to live with him," pleaded guilty to the slaying today.

The woman, Mrs. Hallie Simpson, was sentenced by Criminal Judge Phil Wallace to serve not more than 12 years in the state penitentiary. She was fined $50 on a charge of carrying a pistol.

Her husband, Donald Edward Simpson, an ambulance driver, whom she had known since he was a child, was shot to death on a Sunday afternoon here several weeks ago.

SPEED-UP IS URGED FOR PWA IN FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 11.—(P)—State Administrator J. A. Pynchon today directed all district officials to speed up the WPA program in Florida so that it will be as nearly complete as possible by June 30, when operations are to end unless congressional action in the meantime extends the program and provides more money.

He said about 27,300 persons in Florida are on the WPA pay rolls, approximately 10,000 less than the peak number. Through April 30 the WPA spent nearly $10,000,000 in this state. Pynchon said about 85 per cent of this amount went out in "security wages" and salaries.

WEST VIRGINIA FLAMES CAUSE $75,000 DAMAGE

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. Va., May 11.—(P)—Flames destroyed six buildings today in the downtown section of this community, causing damage estimated by firemen at between $50,000 and $75,000.

The highest building burned was the J. D. Cutlip store, a two-story structure, with apartments on the second floor.

Three persons in the apartments—the only occupants—awakened and gave the alarm, summoning volunteer fire fighters from surrounding towns. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

COUNTY PLANS SAVING BY MAILING MACHINE

A central mailing room for all county departments is being planned in an effort to effect a yearly saving of several hundred dollars, Dr. Charles H. Adams, chairman of the board of commissioners, announced yesterday.

A meter mailing machine is being demonstrated at the courthouse which will save the county several hundred dollars a year by eliminating the need for individual mail boxes at each department. Dr. Adams said department heads will deposit all official county mail at the central mailing room, where an employee will run the letters through the meter and post them.

"No new employee will be hired, if this plan materializes," Dr. Adams said. "The work will be handled by someone already on the pay roll. We expect this plan to effect considerable saving to the county."

'VERY CLEVER FORGER' OPERATING IN ATLANTA

Georgia merchants were warned yesterday of "a very clever check forger" who has been operating here during the last few weeks using State Highway Department and government checks stolen in depot robberies in his operations.

M. H. Akerman, postoffice inspector in charge, said the forger generally makes small purchases, tendering a check and receiving money as change. He said the blanks had been stolen in Covington, Lawrenceville and other points.

Akerman said the man posed as a laborer with a day's beard on his face, was about 40 years old, and five feet nine inches tall.

PARK CONCESSION BIDS REJECTED BY BOARD

For the second time within the past month members of council's parks committee yesterday rejected all bids submitted for concession rights at Grant and Piedmont parks.

In an executive session, the group ordered George I. Simons, general manager of parks, to prepare new bids and issue instructions that they are returnable to the committee on Friday, when it is expected awards will be made.

Miss Morris Honors Miss Whitehead.

Open house was held by Miss Mildred Morris at her home Sunday evening in honor of Miss Virginia Whitehead and John H. Mulder, whose marriage takes place June 6, at Glenn Memorial Methodist church. Miss Morris was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Virginia Turner and Miss Hilda Gumbert. One hundred friends of the honor guests and hostess called.

Samples—Gilchrist.

MITCHELL, Ga., May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. La Favor, of Averett, Ga., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Whitehead, to John H. Mulder, of Atlanta, Ga. The ceremony took place Sunday evening, May 10, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. La Favor, of Averett, Ga. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Virginia Turner, and Miss Hilda Gumbert. One hundred friends of the honor guests and hostess called.

STALIN IS HONORED BY SOVIET WOMEN

Workers Throw Flowers to Russia's Dictator and Other Officials.

MOSCOW, May 11.—(P)—Three thousand women, singing and tossing flowers, greeted Joseph Stalin, dictator of the Soviet Union, as he rode to the city of Moscow in a motorcade. The women were wives of managers and lesser officials of industrial plants, called to the Kremlin from many parts of the union to discuss measures for the improvement of factory working and living conditions. They sang songs and threw bouquets. The Stalin, Klement E. Voroshilov, the war commissar, and other members of the political bureau caught them and barked them on the platform.

Later the delegates presented Stalin with embroidered shirts and "other articles of workers' handicrafts."

The meeting opened a campaign to clean up factories, plant gardens and beautify workers' homes.

DR. RUXTON TO HANG IN ENGLAND TODAY

LONDON, May 11.—(P)—The home office declined today to reprieve Dr. Buck Ruxton, Indian-blooded physician convicted of the "beef-butt" slaying of his wife, despite a petition signed by 5,500 persons.

Ruxton, who was accused of slaying his wife and his maid, dismembering their bodies and casting them into the "beef-butt" ravine near Moffat, must hang at 9 a. m. (4 a. m. Atlanta time), tomorrow in Strangeways jail.

Kasper Quads Rally on Milk Diet Following Sudden Sinking Spell

PASSAIC, N. J., May 11.—(P)—The three-day-old Kasper quadruplets went on a milk diet today after rallying quickly from a sinking spell which had St. Mary's hospital a bit worried for awhile.

Except for the brief setback, the tiny babies—Frances, Frank, Ferdinand and Felix—managed to hold their own so well that Dr. Frank F. Jani regarded their condition as "encouraging." Jani delivered them Saturday.

Encouraging was not the word, however, for the immediate outlook as far as state aid for the babies was concerned. Through Mayor Benjamin F. Turner, Governor Harold G. Hoffman wired congratulations to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kasper, but said there was no existing state law which would authorize state guardianship for the children.

Kasper, a $22-a-week railroad roundhouse worker who is worrying how to support the quadruplets and two other children on his salary, visited his wife at the hospital during the day. He and the two other children, Ellen, 3, and Ralph, 1½, found her doing nicely and well on the way to recovery.

In the presence of Dr. Frank F. Jani, who delivered the babies Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Kasper signed papers designating Mayor Turner as business manager for their children.

The mayor said no offer to exhibit the children had been considered, but said he had accepted the offer of a San Francisco woman of $500 with which to purchase necessities for the babies, and $100 a month with which to pay the Kasper family's rent.

TRIAL OF 'VICE KING' OPENED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 11.—(P)—Lips tightly closed, Charles "Lucky" Luciano, named New York city's "king of vice" by the prosecution, tonight awaited completion of a blue-ribbon jury which will try him and nine co-defendants on vice charges.

Balked by repeated moves of the squad of nine defense attorneys, Special Vice Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey had succeeded in picking only nine men acceptable to both sides at evening recess.

Fason—Sims.

WATCROSS, Ga., May 11.—The marriage of Miss Virginia Fason and William Fason Sims Jr. was solemnized at a home wedding Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leland Moore, pastor of the First Methodist church, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Fason.

The bride wore a smart gray ensemble of sheer crepe trimmed in blue. She wore a darker blue hat and accessories and a cluster of pink carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Florida Mr. and Mrs. Sims are residing at 812 Owens street.

WOUNDED MAN'S STORY CHECKED

Detective 'Unsatisfied' With Explanation; Alleged Companion Booked.

The mystery surrounding the shooting of Jack Humphries, 26, of a Woodward avenue address, grew more complicated yesterday when Detective Robert McGill and R. C. Pollard announced that they were not convinced that Humphries had been wounded by pursuing police officers while he was riding in a car driven by a man listed as Charles B. Moore, 311 Glenwood avenue.

Humphries, who appeared at Grady hospital Sunday night, told attaches that he had been riding in the car with Moore after police had chased the latter man in connection with a disturbance. They reported that an examination of bullet holes in the rear of Moore's car indicated that there had been an impossibility for Humphries to have been wounded by the shots.

Moore, who later surrendered to police, was charged with fighting and released on bond.

COMPANION RELEASED IN PAINTER'S SLAYING

W. H. Lane, 21, of a Luckie street address, was released yesterday by police after questioning in connection with the slaying of John H. Jenkins, 37-year-old painter of 345 Fowler street, N. E., whose body was found shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday night in a shallow grave.

Police reported they were convinced Lane, who had been a companion of Jenkins earlier in the night, knew nothing of the slaying.

Police informed officers that they had seen Jenkins in a fight with a tall slender negro, who knocked Jenkins down.

Funeral services for the victim will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Bethel Baptist church with the Rev. W. G. Hinchey and the Rev. H. J. Sykes officiating.

Burial will be in the churchyard with Henry M. Blackhead in charge.

B. R. Truelove and John T. McElroy, who attacked Moore over the weekend, were both released yesterday from Grady hospital and allowed to go to their homes. Truelove was struck over the head by a man who leaped from a car and ran away. McElroy was stabbed in the machine. McElroy was stabbed in a restaurant.

MEETINGS ARRANGED FOR FULTON FARMERS

A series of meetings for Fulton county farmers interested in the 1936 soil conserving and soil building programs is being held by County Agent C. B. Truitt and Assistant Agent C. B. Gladden.

Aid to the farmers in filling out their work sheets will be given at the meetings, which started yesterday. A session will be held today at the Warsaw school in north Fulton county. At the Sandtown school in south Fulton, the northern section meetings will be held Wednesday at the Birmingham school, Thursday at the Cedar apple canning plant, Friday at the Roswell school, Monday at the Ocoee school and Tuesday at the Newton schools.

For south Fulton farmers, meetings will be held Wednesday at the Rice school; Thursday at McElwain's warehouse in Palmetto; Friday at the Fairburn school; and Monday at the Red Oak canning plant. Truitt asked farmers in old Fulton county to come to the courthouse for information any day this week.

GOODRICH TO SPEAK ON COURT PROCEDURE

Suggested changes in the procedure of the Georgia court of appeals will be discussed by Lucian P. Goodrich, of Griffin, as principal speaker at a joint session of the Atlanta and Stone Mountain bar associations Monday night at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at the Candler hotel in Decatur, it was announced yesterday.

Judge James C. Davis, president of the Stone Mountain group, and Bond Almond, president of the Atlanta Association, will preside jointly at the meeting. William Butts, of Blue Ridge, and Clarence Vaughn, of Conyers, also will speak.

MAN'S BONES REBURIED AFTER CENTURY'S REST

The bones of a man buried in 1828 in north Fulton county were disinterred yesterday to make way for a new stretch of highway being constructed by the county on the McWilliams road.

He was a Mr. McGarrity, the great-grandfather of Captain John Oliver, of the Fulton county police department. Captain Oliver supervised the disinterment and had the body reburied in Mount Gilead cemetery beside the body of Mr. McGarrity's wife.

GAMMON LEADER MAY GET BISHOPRIC

WILLIS KING SECOND AMONG METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH NEGRO CANDIDATES.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 11.—(P)—The tradition which carried three of the last four presidents of DePaul University to seats on the Methodist Episcopal board of bishops helped Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam into first place today as general conference delegates counted their initial ballots for four new bishops.

Dr. Oxnam, present head of the Greenwald school of Theology at DePaul, received 203 votes, more than a third short of the two-thirds majority necessary for election.

In second place was Dr. Wilbur E. Hammaker, Youngstown (Ohio) minister, who had 128 votes on the first ballot.

Joseph M. M. Gray, chancellor of the American University at Washington, D. C., who was third with 108 votes, and Dr. Lewis O. Hartman, of Boston, editor of Zion's Herald, who was fourth with 96 votes, both asked to withdraw their names.

W. A. C. Hughes, of Philadelphia, negro secretary of the Methodist board of home missions, led 13 negro candidates receiving votes to succeed Bishop Matthew Clair, of Covington, Ky., who retires this year. Hughes had 215 votes.

Willis J. King, president of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., was second among the negro candidates with 119 votes, and Lorenzo H. King, New York pastor, was third with 89 votes.

Daughters of Founders and Patriots Hold Meeting With Mrs. King

Members of the Georgia Society of the Daughters of Founders and Patriots met Friday at the home of Mrs. Clyde L. King, and Mrs. E. E. Moreland sang the famous aria from "The One of Whom I Dreamed" and the Recessional with Mrs. Foster L. Spain at the piano. The state president, Mrs. J. P. Womble, gave an interesting report of her year's work and spoke of the need that exists for patriotic women to be alert to the danger of the spread of communism in America. She deplored the recent so-called "prank" of raising the red flag of communistic Russia over the building of the supreme court. Mrs. Womble introduced Mrs. Willie Davis, who made an enlightening talk on "Communism."

Mrs. Katherine Connerat introduced a resolution which was passed condemning the insult to the supreme court in the so-called "prank" of hoisting the red flag over this temple of justice and urging the enactment of legislation providing for the deportation of aliens.

Mrs. Mark Cooper Pope read a paper on the subject of the Wimberly family in America, particularly the Georgia branch. Two valuable names were added to the membership list, Mrs. William Barnes Smith and Mrs. Elijah Brown. Requirements for membership in this society are so restricted that relatively few are eligible.

The five-week-old son of Mrs. Troy Bivings Jr. was the subject of a welcoming address by the president as the youngest of the children of members and a tiny silver cereal bowl was presented to him through his mother, Mrs. Bivings, the lovely daughter of Mrs. Clyde King.

Members were seated at tables in the garden beneath an arbor of roses where luncheon was served. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Frank Orme, E. A. Kirk, H. C. Shover, J. P. Womble, Walter Tomlinson, J. S. Gill, LeRoy Swift, Thomas H. Buttrill and Miss Martha Shover.

Personals

Miss Yolande Gwin returned on Sunday from Washington, D. C., where she spent the past three months. Miss Gwin was engaged in journalistic work while in the national capital.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: My husband's family thinks I am in the wrong and want an opinion from a stranger as to whether or not I am. They want me to take my mother-in-law to live with me. Lord knows I haven't had sunshine, serenity and saving, seeing that the children had what they needed if it meant my doing without to give it to them. I don't mind that as the children are grown; some of them married and all of them are girls to make a mother's heart glad. I have now reached the point where I can really enjoy life. My husband has always thought me one hundred per cent right. We lead a contented, quiet life. I entertain my friends and am always at home to my children and grandchildren. My sister-in-law would like me to take their mother in my home which would completely change my household. She has never been a good mother to me. She didn't put herself out for me when the children were small and I needed her help. She never allowed them to be in her home because it hurt her vanity to be a grandmother. She is not broadminded and would disapprove of many of my friends. Her coming to live with us would spoil life for me. It is we who contribute toward her upkeep and she lives with her daughters, which is, from my viewpoint, the place for her. Does a stranger agree with me? R. F. S.

ANSWER: Any unprejudiced outsider would say that you are not in the wrong justification for refusing to take your husband's mother into your home under these circumstances. Even if she had no daughters and her husband were making it possible for her to live comfortably elsewhere there wouldn't be any obligation upon you to invite her to live with you into the bosom of your family.

The mother herself hasn't any right to expect it. If, during the years when she had the opportunity, she failed to make a place for herself in your heart, surely she cannot expect to spend her declining years in your home. No matter how ungenerous she might find her surroundings where she is, she would find them more ungenerous housed with a son's wife that didn't want her. Already there is a strained relation between you, an animosity that precludes the possibility of your dwelling together in peace and harmony. Then don't let your sensitiveness to criticism of your husband's sisters drive you into taking a step that your common sense and your sober judgment tell you is unwise. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Can you help me make a hard decision? My income is small and I haven't any money saved. I live as close as I can but regular expenses and the amount I spend to pass the time take all there is. My girl is from the country and doesn't expect much. She says she will work if necessary and help support herself. I am sure it would be like heaven to have a cheerful wife sitting across the table in the evening but I have always thought a man shouldn't get married until he had saved something. We know we would be happy together but we are not sure if it is safe to get married with nothing in the bank. W. L. C.

ANSWER: You can't figure out love on paper but you can figure out whether it takes to keep love glowing. And you two had better do some figuring before you take the step. Already you have discovered that your income will barely support one. Your girl's willingness to work is only the first step. Let her find the job, collect the pay. Then take your paper and pencil and make a budget with the combined salaries. If you can stretch them to cover what you think are necessities, adding a pretty large sum for the surprises that always come to new home makers, you will be reasonably safe in getting married. But until your girl demonstrates that she can earn something, you had better postpone your journey to "heaven." A wife can't keep cheerful sitting opposite you if you are both hungry and you can't be happy if you have to go in debt to appease your appetites. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Moving Picture Will Be Shown At Meeting Today

Mrs. George Ripley, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, announces an interesting and unusual feature added to the spring meeting today to be held at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

An advance showing of a picture that recently has been released will be given after the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. The stars taking the leads are Madeline Carroll and George Brent, and the title of the picture is "The Case Against Mrs. Ames."

Those having reservations for the luncheon and members of federated clubs are invited to attend this entertainment which is sponsored by the motion picture committee of the federation.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, who are spending some time in New York, gave a dinner last evening for Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Mrs. John D. Little and Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wilmer of Washington, and their son, Richard H. Wilmer Jr., a student at Yale, who has joined them at a New York hotel.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON. World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

IMAGINATIVE DEFENSE. Good defensive play, in nine hands out of ten, is a matter of partnership co-operation. Even though one defender may have a strong hand and his partner a weak one, they still can collaborate to splendid advantage.

When an expert is saddled with a poor partner, however, the expert's individual defensive play must not be too good—it often must be brilliant. It is not enough for him to make no mistake himself. He must, whenever possible, plan his play so that his partner cannot make one either. East, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
East South West North
1 Heart Pass 2 No trump Pass
3 Hearts Pass 4 Hearts (final bid)

East, with a well-balanced hand, should have raised the no trump instead of rebidding his heart suit. A nine-trick contract no defense could have availed.

Against four hearts South opened his singleton club, not in order to ruff a return of the suit so much as to protect his high cards. Dummy played low and North's eight forced declarer's king. Declarer's first lead was up to dummy's diamond tenace.

When the queen held the trick, three rounds of trumps were played, the third going to South's queen. On the last round of hearts North discarded a low club, which gave the astute South player an approximate "count" on the hand. He knew declarer had originally held five hearts. North would not have thrown away a club and no further trick in spades could have been won by declarer. South's four-card suit, and must, therefore, have begun with at least five clubs, in which case declarer had three. Declarer therefore had five cards divided between spades and diamonds, with the jack of the latter suit as a possible menace.

After much thought, South laid down the king of spades. Declarer won the ace and promptly returned his low spade, but North's Q 10 formed a tenace over dummy's J 9 and no further trick in spades could be won by declarer. Moreover, he still had to lose one diamond and one club trick, and therefore went down a trick.

A spectator asked South why he had chosen to lead the spade king rather than the more normal play of the fourth best spade. South explained his reply so that his partner could not hear.

"I was afraid that my own partner might squeeze me if a certain distribution of cards existed. As a matter of fact, it did exist and I'll bet anything that I would have been squeezed. Follow the play on the lead of a fourth best spade. North's ten would force declarer's ace. Now declarer would lead to the ace of clubs and I could, of course, discard a diamond. Another club would be won by North and again I would have to discard. This time I could let go either a spade or a diamond in safety. But it's dollars to doughnuts that on the next two plays I would be squeezed. North would be certain to lead his high club instead of either a spade or a diamond, his proper play. Declarer would ruff the club and lead his last trump. Now look at my position. I either would have to blank my diamond king or my spade king, or throw the latter away. In any of these cases we could not take another trick."

And close inspection of the hand proved that his analysis was completely sound.

TODAY'S QUESTION. Question: Can a player who has not been dealt a face card call for a new deal? Answer: He can "call for it," but if the opponents give it to him they are philanthropists, not bridge players.

TOMORROW'S HAND. South, dealer. North-South vulnerable.

Atlanta D. A. R. Meets Friday At Craigie House for Election

Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., meets on Friday at 8 o'clock at Craigie House. The election of new officers for 1938 will be the important feature of the program. Mrs. Frances Brown Chase, the capable regent who has served for the past two years, will preside. Her report will carry the important achievements accomplished by the chapter during her regime. Mrs. Chase has recently returned from Washington, D. C., where she attended the Continental Congress of the National Society, D. A. R.

Attending as members were Mesdames Thomas C. Mell, state treasurer; John M. Slaton, Charles F. Rice, Harry Malone, A. G. DeLoach, George Breitenbecher, first vice regent; Reuben Garland, Lucius McConnell, S. M. Page Rees and Miss Annie Laurie Hill. Reports will be given by the delegates. The luncheon given by the chairman of the board, Mrs. E. R. Kirk, and Miss Hazel Kirk, was given in honor of Mrs. Chase as regent. Mrs. H. J. Goerger will entertain at tea at her home at Oglethorpe University in honor of Mrs. Chase and members of the board.

The nominating committee composed of Mrs. Charles F. Rice, the chairman; Mesdames J. W. Smith, Eli A. Thomas, James D. Cromer and Mrs. James L. Logan, will bring reports for the new officers and eight members of the board of management. Officers will be installed and at the conclusion of the business meeting a social hour in charge of Mrs. Slaughter Linticum, chairman, will be enjoyed. Tea music has been prepared by Mrs. S. V. LeCraw, chairman of the music committee, assisted by the co-chairman, Mrs. Julius De Gize.

MAY WHEAT

In the wheat futures market May is one of the most important months in the year. It represents the practical close of the old crop season with wheat prices influenced by winter wheat prospects and the balance of wheat on hand. († This firm has prepared a booklet called "The Story of Wheat" which analyzes, by months, factors which affect the wheat market. Customers and accredited individuals may obtain a copy of "The Story of Wheat" by writing or calling this office.

CITY POWER PLOTTING IS CHARGED TO ICKES

4 Utilities Seek To Block 2-1-2 Million Expenditure for Plants.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(P)—Newton D. Baker, attorney for four private power companies, today told the District of Columbia supreme court the Public Works Administration has followed "a definite and studied program" designed to promote public ownership and regulate local power rates.

He asked an injunction to prevent PWA from allocating $2,444,000 to cities for the construction of municipal power plants in Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma and Iowa.

Jerome Frank, PWA general counsel, announced Secretary of Interior Ickes would take the witness stand late this week to defend government financing of municipal power projects.

Attorneys for the power companies offered evidence showing Ickes in an attempt to prove PWA is engaged in "an illegal scheme" to invade states' rights and hamper down electric power rates. Baker contended such a policy is outlined in Ickes' volume, "Back to Work: The Story of PWA."

Frank protested against admission of the book as evidence, declaring: "If this kind of evidence is permitted, the complainants will try to show that every member of the administration had said in regard to power rates."

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat adjourned court for the day without ruling on the admissibility of the book.

Dean Acheson, former undersecretary of the treasury and joint counsel for the power companies, said he expected to introduce evidence showing the entire Public Works Administration is unconstitutional, and Ickes has consistently exceeded his powers.

The consolidated cases, reopened today following a postponement from April 24, involve municipal power.

Lightning hit a tree at College Park residence by a few feet during the rain at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon tore a giant oak tree to pieces and sent bark flying more than 150 yards.

The tree was located about 12 feet in the rear of E. P. Shellnutt's home on Columbia avenue. Limbs were stripped from the tree and the trunk clipped several feet from the ground. All parts of the tree fell away from the residence.

TIED AND PEPPERS

No wonder so many of us get up in the morning feeling as tired as when we went to bed—no wonder the world looks blue. If your stomach is full of a thing like vile, maned vinegar, your food doesn't do you much good. You want something that is a sour, fermenting mass. You can't help but lose strength, get nervous and feel exhausted all the time. If this acid gets into the blood and starts a lot of things like headaches, rheumatic pains, bad skin, etc. Don't take salts or purgatives to clean out the bowels. They flush out vital body fluids and leave your system dry and inflamed without helping the cause. Try Peppermint, the new medical discovery with the double action. Peppermint corrects excessive acidity without disturbing the stomach juices. It forms a soothing coating over raw irritated membranes and helps stop the making of more burning acid. You get RELIEF at once from gas and acid indigestion. Take Peppermint regularly for a short time and you'll soon enjoy the satisfying return of vigor. Ask for the new, liberal size package of Peppermint at any drug store.

BODY OF MARIETTA MAN FOUND ON LAKE BANK

Suicide Verdict Rendered in Death of J. O. Howard, Store Manager.

MARIETTA, Ga., May 11.—(P)—A coroner's jury this afternoon returned a verdict that J. O. Howard, 28, manager of a local retail store who was found shot to death on the shore of a lake near here about 3 o'clock this afternoon, came to his death at his own hands.

A party of hikers found the body, a pistol clutched in one hand, and reported it to Sheriff E. M. Lang. Identification was made by store employees, who had missed Howard since noon. It was said at the store that he had appeared in good spirits during the morning and had not intimated to any of his associates that he was despondent or depressed. He had been manager of the store here for more than a year. An unofficial statement from the store is that "no reason connected with his management could possibly have been the cause for his act."

The shot entered his temple, causing instant death. The revolver, police said, had been fired twice, with the first shot hitting the man near the lake that he heard of in the afternoon. Police explained, however, that probably one of the empty shells had been left in the gun and was not fired this afternoon.

Howard's automobile was found parked near the lake.

Many of the youth here probably held Wednesday in Florence, Ala. Howard was well known in Marietta business circle and was also active in many of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

Survivors, besides his wife, are his father, New Howard, of Florence, Ala.; four brothers, Branson and Hollis of Florence, Pa., and two sisters, Misses Vona and Ruby Della Howard.

Former Governor John M. Slaton will be the chief speaker and Dr. W. H. Knight will deliver a "Welcome to Marietta" talk before the Kiwanians at the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel. Mothers and wives of the members are invited by Jesse Draper, president of the club, to attend the meeting.

Violence of Picketing Edict in Labor Row Is Cited by Jurist.

ROME, Ga., May 11.—Judge Claude Porter today ordered more than 90 former employees of the Rome Stone and Range Company to go to jail or pay fines for mass picketing in contempt of a court order.

The Floyd county superior court judge issued the order at the close of a three-day hearing on a company complaint. Officials charged the defendants violated an order Judge Porter issued recently against picketing at the company's foundry.

The fines ranged from $25 to $100 and sentences from five to 20 days in jail.

Judge Porter in issuing his decision today stated that it was his opinion that outside interests had advised the men bldly and that this had caused the trouble at the plant. He stated that the men bldly and that this had caused the trouble at the plant. He stated that the men bldly and that this had caused the trouble at the plant.

demeanor, and Judge G. H. Howard said he will pass sentence this morning. Assistant Solicitor Quincy Arnold prosecuted.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy directed a verdict for the plaintiff yesterday in the suit of the Prudential Insurance Company of America to recover $45,816 from the estate of J. O. Howard. Judge Porter did not sign the verdict. The workers themselves served notice on the management that they would not return, thus ending his decision. Many of the men filed today had been previously fined on contempt charges and the decision is now waiting the decision of a higher court.

Judge Porter did not sign the order today but stated that he would wait until the court stenographer had time to transcribe the evidence. This request was made by the defense counsel.
